RELEASE OF PRISONERS IS AGAIN DELAYED

Chinese Government and Bandit Leaders Show Signs of Treachery

BULLETIN
MANILA, P. I., May 21.—It was unofficially reported here today that troops will be sent to China from here in the event decision is reached to employ intervention in the Chinese bandit situation.

The Philippine garrison consists of about 2500 American troops and 9500 native troops.

By ERIC VON SALZMANN
For International News Service
PEKING, May 21.—Alarmed at the utter failure of negotiations for the release of foreigners held by the Suichow train bandits, the diplomatic body decided today to hand another strong note to the foreign office.

This note, it was learned, will demand the release of the prisoners in most urgent terms and threaten strong measures by the foreign powers in the event of the failure of the Chinese government to effect the immediate release of the captives.

Treachery on the part of both the bandits and the government negotiators has absolutely offset all efforts toward the release of the prisoners.

Appeals to President
Fighting between the Chinese soldiers and the bandits has inflamed both sides and made difficult an understanding. There were numerous casualties on both sides as a result of the fighting, reports received here stated.

Marcel Berube, Frenchman, released by the bandits as an emissary, carried an urgent appeal direct to President Li Yuan Hung. He told the president that the bandits insisted upon dealing directly with him. The belief here, however, is that Li is helpless.

Tsao Kun, military overlord, is believed to be playing his weakness in this situation as a means of encompassing his downfall.

Excitement is growing in Chinese circles. There is a deep undercurrent of feeling growing out of the situation. Unity of foreign diplomatic action is deemed more necessary than ever by veteran diplomats.

BANDITS SECURE $3000 IN HOLDUP
Branch of Pacific Trust and Savings Bank Scene Of Crime

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Holding up the branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings Bank at Normandie avenue and Hollywood boulevard shortly before noon today, two armed bandits escaped with approximately $3000 in cash.

The two men entered the bank and approached A. J. Oeschel, the bank manager, at the teller's window. One bandit presented ten one dollar bills, asking for two $5 bills in exchange. As the manager turned for the money, the bandit confronted him and commanded everyone present to put up their hands, and at the same time passed the teller a canvas bag with the order to give him all the money in his possession. Two other employees were told to open the safe but he replied it could not be opened.

The men escaped after threatening to shoot anyone who would attempt an outcry.

On the way out one bandit picked up a box which contained money for the Salvation Army, but when told what it was, refused to take it.

EARTHQUAKES IN ITALY
ROME, May 21.—Earthquake shocks lasting four minutes were felt at Foggia, in southeastern Italy. Up to late afternoon, no report of casualties or damage had been received.

Tuesday Afternoon Club To Entertain At Luncheon
In celebration of the most eventful year in the history of the club, members of the official board of the Tuesday Afternoon Club are to be hostesses tomorrow at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon, at which guests will be Mayor Spencer Robinson, heads of all religious, civic and fraternal organizations, representatives of local newspapers and the two women and nine men who assisted financially in making the new clubhouse a possibility.

The affair is to be strictly informal, according to Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the club and chairman of the finance committee.

Alice E. Johnson, T. R. McKinley Wed Saturday

Mrs. Thomas R. McKinley, formerly Miss Alice Elizabeth Johnson, whose marriage Saturday night was one of the prettiest of pre-June weddings. There were over 100 invitations issued for the wedding at which Rev. Philip K. Kemp was the officiant.

Artistic Setting for Ceremony; Informal Reception Held

Heralding the approach of June, the bride's month, the first event of the local bridal social season, took place Saturday night, May 19, 1923, when Miss Alice Elizabeth Johnson, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson of 314 North Orange street, became the bride of Thomas R. McKinley, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McKinley of Los Angeles. Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, was the officiant and the hospitality of the Johnson home was extended to over seventy-five relatives and friends for the ceremony and informal reception following.

A simple but rich scheme of decoration was used in arranging the home for the affair. Mrs. Johnson was assisted by Mrs. C. K. Martin of El Monte and they chose a pink and white color combination.

In the living room and den baskets of shell pink and white carnations, palms and potted ferns were used. Across the arch between these two rooms fern and baby's breath were entwined. It was under this bower of greenery that the bridal party stood during the reading of the service.

Pink was the color emphasized in the dining room, where a basket of pink sweet peas and pink candles were arranged on the buffet.

Artistic Setting
Providing an artistic setting for the bride and groom, a lovely heavy hand made Cluny lace cover, surrounding the cake a cunning bride and groom, including bride, groom and minister. These miniature figures were used at the affair given to announce Miss Johnson's engagement.

The cake was a wonderful piece of handwork, being three layers graduated in size, iced in white and decorated with icing in the forms of hills of the valley, pink and white rose buds, orange blossoms and on top Cupid holding ribbon reins guiding two doves.

Just before 8:30 o'clock, the spark of Los Angeles, accompanied at the piano by Miss Blanche Lobe of Hollywood, sang "O Promise Me."

Miss Lobe played the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bride party.

EXHIBITORS PREPARING DISPLAY BOOTHS

Business Men Are Asked to Dress Up Stores in Gala Attire

Work on the preparation and installation of the various exhibits that are to be shown at the Glendale Industrial Exposition that opens Friday, May 26, and lasts until June 3, is progressing rapidly as the gangs of workmen add the finishing touches to the huge tent and as the various firms assemble their displays and place them in the booths that they have chosen.

The success of the project is already assured, according to H. L. Leavitt, director general of the exposition, and he is anxious that all of the local stores and business houses lend their aid to making it a gala affair by decorating their places of business in honor of the event and of the distinguished visitors who will be here to participate in the exercises on opening day and on the succeeding days that will be devoted to special occasions.

Many of the local firms have already agreed to decorate their stores and offices, and it is hoped that others will follow their example and lend their assistance in dressing Glendale up in festive garb for the exposition.

Weighty Attractions
The latest attraction to be added is the two fattest women in the world, the two together setting the beam on the scales to quivering at 1239 pounds. Bonnie Bess weighs in at 604 pounds, while her associate, Jolly Babe, scales 635 rindings.

McCreary's Sideshow, which includes ten pits of real curiosities and some of the largest snakes ever seen outside of a psychopathic ward, has also been booked for the exposition, and has been allotted a space where the visitors may enjoy the attractions, and other shows include the Circassian girl, Daly Brothers' Circus, Charles Gay's Farm, Sky Clark's War

POSTPONES ACTION ON CITY SEWER

Los Angeles Council Puts Over Discussion for One Week From Today

The Los Angeles City Council this morning postponed for one week action on Glendale's request to be permitted to connect with the outfall sewer.

City Attorney Jess E. Stephens of Los Angeles stated that the board of public works desired additional time to consider the problem. Charles H. Treat is the president of this board. Its other two members are H. J. McGuire and E. J. Delorey.

The postponement was made by the Los Angeles City Council without discussion.

Glendale was represented at the session by Councilman Sam Davis, Councilman W. A. Horn, Councilman Asa Hall and City Manager W. H. Reeves.

Glendale has offered to lay a 48-in. trunk line south on San Fernando road from about Colorado street to the Los Angeles river, and then along the river bank to Sixth street, Los Angeles, where it would connect with the outfall system. Districts of Los Angeles are to have the privilege of connecting to this trunk line without cost.

JOHNSTON SURVIVES

Recover Bodies Of 5 Children From Old Well
DUMMONTVILLE, Que., May 21.—The bodies of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Soute were recovered today from an old well on the Soute farm. They had fallen into the well when the covering gave way while they were playing upon it.

The depth of the well prevented their cries from being heard. When the father went to find his children, he saw the sixth child, a baby scarcely able to walk, playing upon the ground, unable to crawl upon the well covering.

Cloudburst Hits Colorado Town; Damage Heavy

DENVER, May 21.—A cloudburst struck Cornish, Colo., in Weld county, northeast of Greeley today, according to advices to the Union Pacific railroad offices here, inundating Cornish, washing out 1500 yards of Union Pacific tracks, and flooding many miles of farm lands in the vicinity.

The cloudburst followed a twenty-four hour downpour of rain and turned Coal creek, normally a shallow stream, into a raging river. No loss of life is reported, but great damage was done to livestock and growing crops and virtually every business building and residence in the village was flooded with water.

FOUR INJURED IN SUNDAY CRASHES

Collisions on San Fernando Road Are Probed by Police Department

Two collisions occurred last night on North San Fernando road which were investigated later by the Glendale police department.

Albino Burciaga of San Fernando, about 11 p. m., was motoring toward Los Angeles. Hugh Gbio was returning to his home in Burbank. Near the end of Wilson avenue the two machines collided and Mr. Burciaga's automobile turned around and faced Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ortega of Burbank, who were passengers with Mr. Gbio, were injured in the accident. They were taken first to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, and then to their homes.

A car driven by A. P. Nicolletti of Burbank, about 9:50 p. m., was going north on San Fernando road. An automobile driven by Louis Capra of Los Angeles was proceeding south. They collided and Mrs. Louis Capra and Mrs. Harry Cline were taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. Later they were taken to their homes in Los Angeles.

Court Rules Against Alleged Show Trust

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Opponents of the alleged "vaudeville trust" in the United States won their first victory in the United States supreme court today.

The supreme court decided, inferentially, that there exists reasonable grounds for believing a vaudeville monopoly does exist, and it ordered the suit brought by Max Hart, a New York producer, to be restored to the docket in New York federal district court for trial on its merits.

The decision of the court reversed a previous decision by the New York court, which had thrown Hart's suit out of court for lack of jurisdiction. The New York court has jurisdiction, the supreme court stated. The decision today was hailed by opponents of the alleged monopoly as a great victory and as the initial step in the dissolution of a combination which controls most of the high priced vaudeville throughout the country.

On the question of whether a monopoly actually does exist in the combination of the B. F. Keith interests the Orpheum Circuit and the Excelsior Collection Agency, Inc., as alleged by Hart's attorneys, the supreme court did not rule, except inferentially.

Huntley's Condition Remains Favorable

Reports today from the Glendale Research Hospital on the condition of John G. Huntley, who was operated upon early Saturday morning because of serious injuries received Thursday after a fall from his horse, state that his condition remains favorable with no foreseen complications.

A slight progress in his condition was intimated last night and while the official report from the hospital is that his condition continues the same, members of Mr. Huntley's family feel encouraged that no bad complications are evident and are hoping that this week will bring signs of improvement toward recovery.

Los Angeles Beaten In Aqueduct Project
WASHINGTON, May 21.—The city of Los Angeles today lost in the supreme court of the United States its appeal for review of a suit to put through its aqueduct project for additional water and power supply from the Owens river by acquiring a 320-acre tract of land along the river.

QUITS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, May 21.—William R. Day, former associate justice of the United States supreme court, today resigned as umpire of the German-American mixed claims commission.

AGED MAN IS DEAD FROM ACCIDENT INJURIES

J. W. Johnston, Brother of Glendale Man, Succumbs In L. A. Hospital

Injuries he received last Tuesday when a Los Angeles street car threw him to the street, resulted in the death this morning, Monday, May 21, 1923, at a Los Angeles hospital, of James W. Johnston, brother of Henry Johnston, of 119 North Everett street.

James W. Johnston had spent two years at his brother's home, and last Tuesday he was to start on the trip to his old home in Cedar Rapids, Ia. He was to take the train in Los Angeles, so his brother took him part way to Los Angeles in his automobile. There he took the street car, and, upon reaching the city, he changed cars to go to the depot, and it was in boarding the second car that he was thrown to the street and suffered a fractured hip bone.

He was first taken to the emergency hospital and later to another hospital, where he was pronounced in a serious condition. He at once gave his attendants the name of his brother in Glendale and asked that he be notified.

In the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston believed Mr. Johnston on his way to Cedar Rapids, and they were greatly shocked when, on Thursday, they received a telegram from the Los Angeles hospital telling them that he was in the hospital and seriously ill.

Because of his 77 years of age, the shock of the accident was very serious for Mr. Johnston, and when his Glendale relatives arrived at the hospital they found him in a very grave condition, and he grew gradually worse until his death this morning.

Besides his brother, Mr. Johnston leaves a sister, Mrs. Hattie M. Johnston, of Glendale, and another sister, Mrs. W. R. C. Reynolds of Long Beach.

ROBBERS FOILED IN OFFICE RAID

Marauder Tries Rear Door On Robinson Bros. S. Brand Office

Robinson Brothers' Store at 114 South Brand boulevard was robbed Saturday night—almost.

Booth were in the rear of the store about 11:30 Saturday night checking up the receipts of their day's business. A man, who had been seen to pass in the alley to the rear of the Glendale Taxicab office, was heard to try the rear door. When he was asked what he was doing there at that time of night, he replied in a gruff voice that he was looking for an actor. He then hurried up the alley again toward Broadway as fast as he could go.

On account of the fact that the Glendale Theatre had been closed for about half an hour, Mr. Robinson did not put much credence in his excuse. He believes that an effort to gain entrance to the store was narrowly averted.

Nation Wide Strike Of Carpenters Near

CHICAGO, May 21.—Unless Chicago contractors and carpenters accede to demand of workmen for a $1.25 hourly rate for carpenters after June 1, a nation-wide strike of the 400,000 carpenters is likely, Harry Jensen, president of the carpenters district council here, declared today.

Announcement of advancement to $1.15 from $1 hourly award of Judge K. M. Landis was made last night. Carpenters who have been free to work or not under the Landis award will demand the $1.25 rate after June 1, Jensen said, adding that Chicago sets the scale for the nation.

Sets New Dance Mark; 161 Hours And 35 Minutes
NILES, Ohio, May 21.—James Yarnell, of Youngstown, Ohio, hung up a new marathon dance record of 161 hours and 35 minutes at Avon Park here this morning.

Half Century Of Wedded Happiness Celebrated By Popular Glendale Couple

Rev. and Mrs. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland, who entertained more than 200 guests on Saturday in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The Soper home was prettily decorated for the event and the couple were assisted in receiving by their daughter, Miss Maud Soper.

Friends of Rev. and Mrs. Julius Soper Guests at Reception That Makes Golden Anniversary of Marriage

The home of Rev. and Mrs. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland avenue was the scene of a beautiful, informal affair Saturday when, assisted by their daughter, Miss Maud Soper, they entertained over two hundred guests at a reception in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, the rounding out of fifty years of wedded life, each year of which has been, they say, a "golden year of happiness."

The rooms were decorated with golden crapepans and other yellow flowers in keeping with the occasion, but the host and hostess were recipients of so many beautiful floral gifts, that before the close of the afternoon, the rooms were banked with baskets of roses, bouquets of lilies, gorgeous French combinations from the florists' hands, until the house was a bower of bloom.

More than one hundred persons attended the reception during the afternoon, many coming from a distance. A pretty ceremony took place at 8 p. m., in the presence of about one hundred guests, when a bridal party entered, composed of the daughter, Miss Maud Soper, as bridesmaid, gowned in white, and carrying Killarney roses, and the bride and groom of fifty years ago.

Mrs. Soper wore a dress of daintily lavender crepe and carried yellow tea roses. They were met by Rev. J. C. Livingston, who officiated at a special wedding ceremony, closing with the words, "this is a ring ceremony, and while this is not a regular ring, it has a true ring."

Presenting the couple with a package, filled with gold pieces, a gift from members of the Cass, Verdugo church and the First M. E. church. Mrs. Soper responded with a beautiful expression of thanks and a brilliant tribute to the beauty of "friendship." Rev. Soper following with a few well-chosen words expressing his deep appreciation of the gift and of the presence of the hosts of friends whose presence and greetings had added so much joy to the happy occasion.

Their niece, Mrs. Charles S. Davidson, and three children, of Pasadena were the only immediate relatives present.

Dainty refreshments were served during the afternoon and evening, with a yellow color scheme carried out in the menu of orange ice cream, gold cake and candies. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Charles S. Davidson and daughters of Pasadena, and Misses Margaret Davidson and Gladys Sharpe.

Wireless Greetings
Rev. and Mrs. Soper were happily surprised Friday by the delivery of two wireless messages from Japan, one from the annual conference of the Methodist churches in that country, extending congratulations, and the other bearing greetings from a prominent Japanese, a personal friend of long years' standing.

They were recipients of many beautiful gifts, including a shower of gold pieces, many of them sent from a distance, making a total of over $250. An especially beautiful gift was a pair of handsome vases, overlaid with gold, presented by the Japanese church of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Soper (Mary Frances Davidson) was born in Harmony, N. J. and will in June celebrate her 74th birthday anniversary. (Continued on Page 6)

BALDWIN OR CURZON TO BE NEXT PREMIER

Resignation of Bonar Law, Due to Ill Health, Is Cause of Crisis

BULLETIN
LONDON, May 21.—Former Premier Andrew Bonar Law, who resigned because of ill health, underwent a slight operation of the throat this afternoon. His condition was said to be unchanged.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, May 21.—England's Tory government today faced a most serious crisis as a result of the resignation of Premier Andrew Bonar Law, who had been in office just seven months.

As Bonar Law did not name his choice for successor, it is up to King George to attempt to select a new premier who will be satisfactory to both sides. Many political observers believed that either Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon or Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin would get the post, the odds favoring Curzon.

Should Curzon be named, it is likely that he would reform the government, calling in Sir Robert Horne, Austen Chamberlain and possibly Lord Birkenhead, who were members of the old coalition ministry of David Lloyd George.

May Be Compromise
If Curzon is selected to head the cabinet Baldwin will then be slated for leadership in the House of Commons. Still another possibility is the nomination of a compromise premier, such as Lord Derby, former secretary for war, or Earl Balfour, who has served in almost every high post in the government.

It is understood that Baldwin conferred on Saturday with Bonar Law, promising to serve under Curzon if the latter takes the premiership. But already the "tory die hards" are opening a strenuous campaign against Curzon. Their organ, the Morning Post, criticized Bonar Law for not naming a successor.

Parliament will re-assemble one week from today, when the acute situation arising from the Russian question and the Irish deportation bill, will come to a head in commons. This latter measure was introduced to protect Home Secretary William C. Bridgeman, who was responsible for deportation of many Irish republican sympathizers.

It is certain that the government's policy on both these questions will meet with a combined attack from labor and Lloyd George's adherents. Unless the Conservatives are able to unite and successfully resist the attack, there is a possibility that the cabinet will quickly collapse. This would present a great opportunity for Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the powerful labor party in the House of Commons, and for Lloyd George.

ROAD TO IGNORE BOARD SUMMONS

Pennsylvania System Has No Dispute With Its Employees, Claim

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, May 21.—The United States railroad labor board today voted to go into federal court and get a subpoena for the appearance before it May 28 of Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania, who had refused to have his corporation represented at the hearing here of a complaint brought by the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—The Pennsylvania railroad will ignore the summons of the railroad labor board to appear before that body in Chicago today for a hearing, it was officially announced today.

In a letter in answer to the labor board's notice to appear, Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania, declared the railroad has no dispute with the representatives of its clerical and miscellaneous forces and that therefore there is no necessity for it to appear.

Hearing Starts
CHICAGO, May 21.—Hearing of a complaint against the Pennsylvania railway brought by the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks was started today without the railroad being represented. Chairman Ben Hooper, of the United States railroad labor board, acknowledged receipt of a communication from Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania, declining to send representatives to the hearing, but declined to forecast what the attitude of the board would be or what steps might be taken.

Exalted Ruler Apffel To Give Elks Big Surprise
Not since their individual initiatives have members of the Elks lodge been as much "at sea" about a lodge gathering as they are about the regular meeting tonight.

That Exalted Ruler James Apffel has something "up his sleeve" is the simple announcement that has stirred the curiosity of the lodge members. Knowing Mr. Apffel's ingenuity and originality a real surprise is being anticipated at the meeting tonight.

In addition to the surprise there will be balloting on candidates and selections by the orchestra. Glendale lodge was well represented Saturday night at the

Bazaar Report

While the returns are not all in, the announcement by Mrs. E. V. Bacon, general chairman, that the bazaar held by the Thursday Afternoon Club Friday at the Cerritos avenue school in connection with the May festival, netted about $200, was very gratifying to the members of the club.

This substantial sum will materially hasten the realization of their dream of erecting a club house on the very desirable lots owned by the club in the south side of Cypress street between Orange and Central avenues.

The prize winners in the baby contest which was conducted in charge of Dr. Baker and Dr. Suddler, assisted by Mrs. Edwin Suddler and Miss Helen Tupper, city and school nurses, and Miss Match and Miss Fink of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, were, first prize, Floyd L. Grimes, 1 1/2 years old; second prize, Mary Jane Reed, 3 months old; third prize, Mary Hines, 6 years old.

One of the features of the bazaar was the raffish of a large doll, donated by Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, of Oakland, which had been elaborately dressed by Mrs. Morris Cooke of 127 North Cedar street, netted about $16 for the fund and was won by Mrs. Helen Jones of 323 West Cerritos.

There was a large demand for the cooked food and barbecued supper as well as for the articles for sale at the various booths.

Luncheon Honor

One of the prettiest affairs this season was given Saturday by Miss Dorothea Vogel, of 410 North Jackson street, when she entertained with an artistically appointed luncheon complimenting Miss Ruth Waterman, who will soon become the bride of Kenneth Ripley, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson. Miss Vogel and most of the guests present are to be members of the bridal party.

The living room was decorated with a profusion of American Beauty roses, and the dining room was a bower of yellow spring flowers, gladioli, Scotch broom, and daisies, being effectively used. Hanging from the ceiling above the luncheon table was a wedding bell fashioned from greenery, and yellow flowers and a large bowl of Scotch broom and other yellow flowers formed the centerpiece for the luncheon table. Delicate wedding bells and favors in the yellow and white scheme marked the guests' places.

Following the luncheon Buncos was played, at which Miss Waterman was awarded first prize and Mrs. Van Wormer consolation.

Later in the afternoon Miss Waterman was presented with a beautiful basket filled with Scotch broom, daisies and gladioli.

The guests present were Miss Margaret Studebaker, Miss Murray Longley, Miss Dorothy Chandler, Miss Grace Jackson, Mrs. Van Wormer, Miss Louise Hollenbeck, Miss Viola Yorba and the guest of honor, Miss Ruth Waterman, and the hostess Miss Dorothea Vogel.

Class Hostess

The I. O. C. class of the Tropic Presbyterian Sunday school, of which Miss Carol Duncan is teacher, were the guests of Miss Carolyn Bly, Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wang, 1525 South Glendale avenue.

The class on this occasion were the hostesses to a number of their young men friends. The guests were presented with caps with balloon tassels and the evening was given to interesting games. Fruit punch, sandwiches and cake were served by the hostesses.

Those enjoying the evening were the Misses Carol Duncan, Margaret McCourt, Dorothy Thompson, Sara Faye Snell, Nancy St. Clair, Frances Goldsborough, Helen Hartwig, Carolyn Bly, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. John Rudy, of Bangor, Wiscon., Messrs. Walter Sullivan, Herbert Bruck, William Snell, Jesse Covington, Carl Onquist, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wang.

H. Sanders, H. L. Cloworthy, J. Perkins, Miss Clara Ringier and the hostess, Mrs. Charles Freshman. Recently two new members have been secured. They are Mrs. S. Packer and Mrs. E. S. McKee.

Make Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Grossetta, are new arrivals in the city who have located at 307 1/2 South Central avenue for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Grossetta have just returned from Europe, where they have been traveling since October. They visited many interesting points, and spent some time in Naples, Italy, and Cairo, Egypt. Before leaving for Europe, they spent some time in Tucson, Ariz., for the benefit of Mr. Grossetta's health, but are now expecting to remain in California. Mrs. Grossetta is a cousin of Miss Lucretia Potter of 112 1/2 East Lomita avenue.

Plan for Picnic

Former Colorado residents are to picnic Sunday, May 27 in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. Those attending are to bring basket lunches. There will be the usual picnic outing attractions.

Circus Luncheon

Mrs. R. F. Kitterman of 511 North Kenwood street, and Mrs. H. N. Way, formerly of Glendale, and now of Los Angeles, entertained Saturday at the beautiful home of Mrs. Way, a number of former school mates of Stanton, Neb., with a "circus" luncheon.

Luncheon was served at 12 o'clock in the patio which was artistically decorated with growing flowers and potted plants and red, white and blue crepe paper streamers hanging in festoons from the center of the patio to the corners. Varied colored balloons were also used, producing a striking, colorful effect. The luncheon tables were decorated in red and white, with a large bowl of red roses forming the centerpiece and white lace doilies bordered with fluted ruffles of red paper at each place. Clever favors in red cartons, containing brightly colored caps were done by the guests causing considerable amusement.

Following the luncheon, ice cream, popcorn, peanuts, candy and all that help to make a real circus a success were enjoyed by the guests.

Saturday being Mrs. Way's birthday, her friends presented her with a beautiful basket of artificial fruit as a birthday remembrance.

The rest of the afternoon was devoted to a social time.

Those present were: Mesdames Ed. Daniel, W. F. Doldner, Ella Shillington, George Stock, Cyrus Trent, N. Vining, Lawrence Barnes, Augusta Bacon, Ed. Lee, S. Enos, H. F. Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thomson of 725 North Louise street, entertained at their home Saturday evening, with a party in honor of their son James' twenty-first birthday anniversary.

The rooms were artistically decorated with spring flowers of various shades.

During the evening, Miss Gladys N. White rendered several pleasing vocal numbers, which were greatly enjoyed. The rest of the evening was devoted to dancing, and at a late hour a buffet supper was served.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts from his many friends, and a handsome gold watch and automobile from his parents.

Those present were Misses Louise Wimmer, Cecil Chase, Ethel B. Oliver, Gladys N. White, Gladys Peekham, Catherine Guthrie, Isabel Franklin, Mary Jo Phillips, G. Morgan, Stillman Chase, La Verne M. Following the business meeting, the school orchestra will render two selections and Raymond B. Dunlap, superintendent of Los Angeles schools will be the speaker of the afternoon.

Show Hope Chest

A well filled cedar chest, now on display in the window of the Pendroy store, is to be offered at the coming industrial exposition by the Women's Auxiliary of the local Legion post. Coupons are being sold by the women and the holder of the lucky one will receive the chest at the closing of the exposition.

Proceeds are to go toward the Auxiliary's contribution to the Legion building fund.

There are all kinds of pretty linen pieces in the chest and many more are to be added to the collection.

Operatic Program
An operatic program was given at the recent meeting of the Foothill club with Mrs. E. B. Wyman of 1326 North Maryland avenue.

Mrs. John W. Cotton of Eagle Rock opened the program with a review of the opera, and songs from Cadman's "The Robin Woman" were delightfully given by Mrs. Helen Graham Cole accompanied by Mrs. Horn. There were also two enjoyable solos by Mrs. Charles A. Parker, who played her own accompaniment.

Special guests were Mrs. C. A. Parker, Mrs. R. L. Phister and Miss Winifred Hull.

Late in the afternoon refreshments were served on a table decorated with spring flowers.

Wild grass in the Mississippi delta country, growing to a height of 12 feet, is so dense that survey parties on foot are unable to map the territory.

STORE'S OPENING IS BIG EVENT

Large Crowd at Attractive
Furniture Display; Music
And Fashion Review

Several thousand people of Glendale and vicinity witnessed, Saturday afternoon and night, at 229-231 South Brand boulevard, what is considered one of the largest "grand openings" ever held in this city, the occasion being in honor of the location by the New England Furniture Company of a store at that address.

The crowds were so considerable that at times the store, large as it is, could not readily assimilate them all, with the result that hundreds viewed the performance through the large plate-glass windows.

Among the many features that characterized the opening were concerts, both afternoon and evening. By Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra, and a Fashion Review of smart women's apparel, presented by Hatz's, 132 South Brand boulevard, together with a drawing for beautiful prizes offered by the management to those holding the three lucky numbers on the 5000 tickets that had been given away during the past few days.

The results of this latter event are as follows: Sam Border, 209 North Kenilworth avenue, holder of No. 1558, the first ticket drawn, is the winner of the pair of beautiful polychrome book ends; Ralph Franklin, 346 North Adams street, holder of No. 4035, the second ticket drawn, is the winner of the solid walnut magazine rack; and Mrs. Mary Bennett, 128 South Jackson street, holder of No. 3081, the third ticket drawn, is the winner of the silk lamp standard.

Six local young women were the models for the fashion review; Misses Harriet Cook, Odell Cunningham, Mary Chapman, Florence Little, Marion Jones; and Mrs. Mary McGuire.

There were shown coats and wraps designed by Conde, of international reputation; sport dresses by Peggy Paige, of New York; and evening gowns by George Meyer.

Among the many lovely wraps was one of taupe-colored Fashiona cloth, lined with French blue canton crepe and trimmed with flying panels, held in place by a beautiful motif in iridescent beads.

A sport dress in mountain haze, with scarf to match, of trou-frou cloth, was particularly lovely.

An evening gown in peach-colored taffeta, trimmed with black velvet ribbon and having shoulder-straps of the same material, proved very popular.

Orchestra Program
Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra rendered the following program, at the evening performance: "Apple Blossoms," orchestra; saxophone solo, "Got To See Mammy," Little Miss Adeline Woodbury; "Just a Little Blue," orchestra; D. Ripley Jackson, vocal solo, "My Wild Irish Rose," encore "Macushla"; "The Man Tore the Stove Apart," orchestra; Jack Jenkins, vocal solo; "Requests," orchestra; and other numbers.

Miss Adeline Woodbury deserves special praise for her very capable work on the saxophone. The solos of D. Ripley Jackson and Jack Jenkins, also, were much appreciated.

A. M. Kelly and his Shrine Club orchestra are an institution of which Glendale is well proud, and the best evidence of their increasing popularity is to be seen in the number of engagements they have played in this vicinity of late. The personnel of this first-class musical organization comprises A. M. Kelly, director; violin, M. Coffman; piano; E. Floyd, saxophone; C. Donaldson, clarinet; C. Pick, cornet; D. Crampton, drums; R. Jones, banjo; and L. Tobie, trombone.

Prominent Visitors
A number of prominent visitors were present at the opening, among them H. Robinson, owner, and George Ryno, sales manager, of the Robinson Manufacturing company, understood to be the largest manufacturers of furniture on the Pacific coast, Messrs. Cline and Kane, also of the Robinson Manufacturing company, were present. They agreed with Messrs. Robinson and Ryno that this was the largest and finest furniture opening they had ever witnessed.

A. F. Rice, factory representative of the Universal Stove and Range company, was also present and delivered a congratulatory address.

B. L. Gates, president of the New England Furniture company, and Royal M. Sawtelle, manager of the Glendale store, expressed themselves as more than gratified at the response to their opening accorded by the people of this city.

ECONOMY RUN IS WON BY OAKLAND

CAMP CURRY, May 21.—Good roads and no mud and mire which had to be contended with in last year's economy run, explain the reason for the breaking of all records for miserly consumption of gas in this year's run. The Oakland car won the sweepstakes honor for the second time in succession when it pulled into Camp Curry after using only nine and three-quarter gallons of gasoline on the 360-mile motor run from Los Angeles.

That's All

Taught Not To Fight
China World's Conundrum
Tourist Invasion Starts
It's Fun To Travel Now

By Gil A. Cowan

As eyes today turn toward China where the bandits have proclaimed they will slaughter their hostages if terms are not made. Citizens of several countries are doomed to lose their lives, it is reported, because of the instability of the Peking government to cope with its mercenary discharged soldiers. It seems strange, indeed, that such a thing could come to pass, but one must understand China to know that it always will suffer from its soldiery, because good Chinese refuse to fight. In the worship of their grandmothers the young Chinese are taught not to kill. Also, they are importuned not to join the fighting forces of their country.

As a result only the riff-raff and the coolie classes become members of the military forces and they are an irresponsible lot. They are a menace to their nation and when discharged from the army proceed to make life miserable for an otherwise peaceful people.

According to a student of Chinese conditions the Occidental civilization has failed to pierce the Flowery Empire further than twenty miles from the open ports. Once into the country and away from foreign influence the stranger finds the Oriental following the customs of a civilization dating back to Confucius.

China is going to become the conundrum of the world, Russia will either annihilate itself, or bring order out of chaos, but the English speaking races never will be able to sway John Chinaman very far from his beaten path in the centuries to come.

To show how futile it is to try to conquer this yellow race, the Mongolians swept down from Russia some 350 years ago, according to most informant, and took over the reins of government. Today the Mongolian has literally been swallowed alive by the five hundred million and more Chinese.

The fact that a mere handful of foreign nationals suffer the same consequences as the Mongolian will mean little to the mass of Chinese. They may pay indemnities and their officials may express sorrow, but they will not fight over a little deed of their bandits which have been repeated for centuries.

Indeed, the armies of the west, world could march into China, massacre fifteen million of their peoples—a number similar to that sacrificed in the world war—and China would think little of it. Plagues and famines have taken that number in a year's time.

Tourists from all parts of the country now are arriving in southern California. Already highway hotels are filled and this favored state finds itself incapable of caring for the crowds coming here this year.

Numerous hotel projects are under way and they should be rushed to an early completion for this nation demands hotel convenience. In March of the other night it was necessary for the writer of Comment to take quarters in a private home, the hotels of that city being jammed by the tourist rush to Yosemite.

Bakersfield, Fresno, Sacramento and even San Francisco bay cities find their hotels handling the largest number of people possible. It is reported that the new Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles is practically "sold out" before completion.

Glendale will do well to have three or four hotels.

Motorcars and better railroad transportation facilities are tending to make traveling a greater pleasure than staying at home. Combine these with the sights to be seen, the new acquaintances to be made and the desirable change of climate to be found in the west and you have summed up the reasons for so many heading in this direction.

ASKS EARLY HEARING

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The federal government today presented to the supreme court of the United States its appeal and asked an early hearing in the suit against the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange to prevent speculation in sugar.

Wool exports from New Zealand in a recent year exceeded 250,000,000 pounds.

The Oakland consumed 12.55 gallons. The Little Overland was close behind the Oakland this year with 10 1/8 gallons for the journey, and the Star was right on its tail with 10 1/4 gallons. The Oakland's average was 36.9 miles to the gallon.

The contest was very close in all classes, the Overland and Star running neck and neck in their class, and the Earl and Carter doing the same in their division.

The winners in all classes are as follows:

Class 1-E: Overland, first; Star, second.

Class 2-E: Gardner, first; Earl, second.

Class 3-E: Templar, first; Willys-Knight, second.

Class 4-E: Oakland, first; Kissel, second; Jewett, third.

Class 5-E: Stephens, first; Cole, second; Paige sedan, third; Franklin fourth.

Class 6-E: Duesenberg (sole entrant), first.

Sweepstakes: Oakland, first; Templar, second; Duesenberg, third; Gardner, fourth; Earl, fifth.

CHILDREN GIVE GREAT PROGRAM

Pearl Keller School of Dancing Pupils Deserve Highest Praise

An audience of 2500 people witnessed the "Children's Society Vaudeville," presented Saturday afternoon at the Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, by the pupils of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art, Glendale, for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Guild of the Orthopedic Hospital-School.

To Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain, founder and director of the school that bears her name, goes the credit, shared by her talented pupils, for a performance that everyone in that large audience thoroughly enjoyed from the first curtain to the last.

It would be next to impossible to single out any one particular number as "best," for the richly assorted program of group dances, solos, ballets and eccentric offerings was wrought by Mrs. Brattain to stand as a whole and be judged as a whole.

Demand Encores

There were, nevertheless, certain numbers that particularly intrigued the audience, bringing forth applause so insistent as to demand encores. Of the solo dances, "The Whirlwind," by Dorothy Dutton, was so bizarre, both as to costume and execution, that the audience insisted upon seeing it twice, as they did "El Capitán," by little Eleanor Marek, and "The Powder Puff," by Marie Louise Brown.

One of the most unique of the eccentric dances was "The Scarecrow," by Glen Hitchcock, assisted by Shirley Hitchcock, in "The Lure of Youth," Gould Moore, in the "Bow and Arrow Dance," exhibited a rhythm of movement that was particularly pleasing, and Marie Louise Brown, in her dramatic pantomime, "Grief and Joy," gripped the audience by the intensity of her feelings and the beauty of her dancing.

Little Bobby Lehman, late of Pantages Circuit and soon to go on the Orpheum, gave in his "Diminutive Flapper," a delightful impersonation. It is easy to see why this boy has gone so far, though only thirteen years old, for he has a great natural ability plus a careful preparation. Bobby was for five years a pupil of Pearl Keller Brattain, who "discovered" him and gave him his entire training.

Not less talented and easily ready to go over a professional circuit any time they choose, are the Turner sisters, Elizabeth and Beatrice. Their "Highland Fling," assisted at the bagpipes by Alex McDougal, was up to "big time" vaudeville standards in every way. And Elizabeth's "Sword Dance" would have brought down any house.

Many Take Part

Of the group numbers, the "Garden Dance" and the "Bridal Bells" were perhaps the most popular. The tiny tots in "Cupid's Garden" were very popular in their own way, too, while the "Indian Ballet," which concluded the program, was a splendid piece of ensemble work.

Those in the "Eccentric Chinese Group Dance" were Betty Webster, Betty Herbold, Elizabeth Danforth, Eileen Cook, Laura Waller, Shirley Bennett, Helen Lindrum, Mildred Maranville, Evelyn Plunkett, Kathryn Stanley, Emma Torrey, Roberta Cowan, Wilhelmina Rieth, Nora Wang, Josephine Hogan, Peggy Fenton, Elaine Harrison, Marjorie Goodhue, Virginia Phillips.

Those in "Cupid's Garden": Doris Ray Phillips, Caroline Everington, Roberta Smith, Dorothy Page, Alice Torrey, Dorothy Morton, Hettie Clausen, Estelle Sooy, Florence Steere, Jane Pendleton, Ruby Coker, Adrienne McDade, Louise Torrey, Berline, Marcene McCarter, Jeanette Schwendener, Elinor Weiz, Helen Hock, Mary McCormick, Moreene Fitz, Ruth Becker, Dorothea Ungeheuer.

Those in "The Bluebirds": Christine Proctor, Rosemary Hatfield, Aileen Crane, Geraldine Wilbur, Barbara Louise Farlander, Shirley Wilcox, Jeanne Keleher, Carmen Gould, Betty Jane Stewart, Francella Hersel, Elaine Ryan, Elizabeth Ryan, Dorothea Wolcott, Patricia Bowman, Virginia Wells.

Those in the "Balloon Dance": Mary Phillips, Gertrude Marek, Nellie Aleshire, Isabel Livingston, Katherine Sonntag, Beryl Campbell, Dorothy Godfrey, Patricia Carline, Geraldine Keleher, Ruth Coker, Margaret Baruch, Ann Wilkinson, Blossom Moore, Helen Rosenberg, Mary George.

Those in the "Indian Ballet": Dorothy Dutton, Leona Hunt, Evelyn Hunt, Shirley Hitchcock, Glen Hitchcock, Helen Orr, Helen Lindrum, Grace Hoffman, Virginia Tweedell, Gertrude Muske, Cecilia Mae Fischer, Julia Pelley.

Among the other children who appeared were Elizabeth Hoffman, Roberta Hope Simpson, Vivien Melone, Emma Torrey, Ina Claire Fletcher, Ann Elizabeth Wilkinson, Gladys Muske, Betty Lou Pickett, Eileen Cook, Betty Jane Stewart, Katherine Jane Bruner, Julia Pelley, Grace Hoffman, Naida Taylor, Virginia Tweedell, Gertrude Muske, Mary Alice Barton, Katherine Sonntag, Anna Lacey, Nellie Aleshire, Blossom Moore and little Randolph Bennett, who drove Glendale's prize float in the last Tournament of Roses, at Pasadena.

BENNER REPORTS ON SCOUT MEET

Conference of Executives at Yosemite National Park Is Big Event

Scout Executive Harold Benner returned Sunday from a conference of scout executives at Yosemite National park.

"This conference was by far the best that has ever been held in Region Twelve," reported Mr. Benner. "The keynote of the conference was the promulgation of good fellowship and teamwork among scout executives with a keener and nobler desire to serve the youth of the nation."

According to Mr. Benner, the high school principals of California were assembled in conference at the same time as the scout executives. The result was the development of a better understanding on the part of the executives of the tremendous problems which confront the high schools and a better understanding of how Scouting may gear into high school activities. The principals on their part were addressed by Lorne W. Barclay, National Director of the Department of Education, Boy Scouts of America. At one of the sessions of the principals the executives attended in a body.

Tribute to Roosevelt

Under the personal direction of L. L. McDonald, director of the department of camping of the National Scout Council, the scout executives built a model Boy Scout camp as a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt. This will be a permanent feature of Yosemite. The camp was built in two afternoons of hard labor and consisted of a log cabin, flagpole, fences, entrance, bridge, council ring, different types of camp fires, tables, benches, all made out of raw material.

One thing that was impressed upon us time and time again," declared Mr. Benner, "was the fact that we are not developing an organization but, instead, have a movement which may be used by the church, the home and the school as their own organization."

Our days were certainly full of activities. The daily session began at 9 in the morning and would continue with only short recesses until sometimes as late as 10:30 in the evening, which is a late hour for Camp Curry."

GOLDEN WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

Half Century of Happiness Is Told at Reception at Rev. Soper Home

Julius Soper was born in Poolesville, Md., and has passed his 78th anniversary. He was married in Andover, N. H., May 20, 1873. Bishop R. S. Foster officiated, performing a double marriage service, the other contracting parties being John C. Davidson, brother of Mrs. Soper, and Miss Stout.

Shortly after their marriage the two young couples crossed the continent and sailed from San Francisco on the steamship "China," an old wooden sidewheeler, on their voyage to Japan, where they were under appointment to the missionary work in the Orient. Rev. Soper later became dean of the Theological department of Aoyama Gakuin school located in the suburb of Tokio. They spent practically thirty-eight years in that country, returning about eleven years ago, and have been residents of Glendale for ten years.

Of five children only two survive. Miss Maud Soper, who has been a well-known member of the Glendale High School faculty for several years, and Edmund D. Soper, who has lately been appointed to the chair of History of Religion at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. The only grandchildren are Robert and Herbert, aged 11 and 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund D. Soper.

The year of 1923 has also been the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Soper to the ministry, and his graduation from Madison, N. J.

Rev. Soper officiated as pastor of Casa Verdugo M. E. church four years, retiring from the charge four years ago. He still keeps up active participation in the Japanese Mission work in southern California.

ALICE E. JOHNSON BECOMES BRIDE

Weds Thomas R. McKinley On Saturday Night at Home of Parents

Charming Picture The bride entered with her father. White is most becoming to the brunette type, and Miss Johnson was charming in her bridal attire. Her gown was of velvet de luxe brocade silk crepe and pearl edged chiffon, made by Madame Marie Teyea Baker. It was simple in design and with draping skirt, one graceful length reaching the floor and suggesting a train. The bridal veil was caught with a bandeau of pearls and lilies of the valley. Miss Johnson carried bride's roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. She wore a string of pearls, a gift from Mr. McKinley.

The white satin pillow on which Miss Johnson and Mr. McKinley knelt during the final prayer of the Episcopal service read by Rev. Kemp, was made from the white satin dress worn by the bride's mother at her graduation from the Henderson School of Oratory in New York.

Mr. McKinley was attended by Everett Brown of Eagle Rock as best man.

For the wedding Mrs. Johnson wore a gown of black sequins over gold cloth.

An informal reception took place after the ceremony. At this time Mrs. McKinley cut her wedding cake, which was served with white brick ice cream with red hearts in the center. Punch was also served during the evening.

Those assisting in serving were Misses Anna Wescott, Ethel Ratner, Georgia Marshall, Esther Yahrus, Edith Brinck, Lois Coleman, Regina Tungate, and Mrs. C. S. Murphy, business associates and friends of the bride; Misses Agnes Sparklin and Catherine Kitterman, Genevieve Schroeder and Ethel Preston of Glendale. Misses Kitterman and Preston were in charge of the serving plans.

At Mission Inn Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. McKinley left by motor for Riverside, where they plan to spend a few days at the Glenwood Mission Inn. For her trip Mrs. McKinley wore a frock of champagne colored Canton crepe, with summer hat, shoes and gloves in harmonizing shades. Her wrap was of heavy black silk velvet lined with rose Canton crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinley have many friends in Glendale and Los Angeles and they were the recipients of countless gifts and messages of congratulation. Among their gifts were many pieces of fine silverware, art glassware and other attractive furnishings for their new home, which is to be in Glendale.

Mrs. McKinley has been in the employ of the Los Angeles Railway company, serving for three years in the transportation department, where she was a valued secretary in charge of the merit and bonus records.

Mr. McKinley is in the employ of the Sherman & Clay Music house in Los Angeles.

Guests at their wedding from Glendale and Los Angeles were Misses Genevieve Schroeder, Blanche Lobe, Elsie Wilson, Erma Standee, Viola Carlson, Florence Pettit, Agnes Sparklin, Florence Temple, Anna Wescott, Ethel Ratner, G. Marshall, Esther Yahrus, Edith Brinck, Regina Tungate, Ruth Gibson, Erma Beneke, Agnes Lindanger, Elsie Klindworth, Anna McDermott, Carita Moore.

THE GLENDALE

Jack Pickford returns to the screen in "Garrison's Finish," a fast-moving drama of the race track, now showing at the Glendale Theatre.

Supporting the star a whole host of brilliant lights in the stellar heavens of moviedom—Madge Bellamy, Charles Ogle, Clarence Burton, Ethel Grey Terry, Tom Prior, Dorothy Manners, Audrey Chapman and others.

The story is from the famous novel by W. B. M. Ferguson, which Elmer Harris has brought to the screen without change of name. Arthur Rosson directed, with his brother, Harold Rosson, in charge of the camera. Mary Pickford edited the film for her brother, thus receiving in a measure to Jack's great help to her in directing "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "Through the Back Door" and other fine films.

Woman's Page

A Stolen Bride

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Six horses drew the coach and there were as many riders before and behind. Men had toiled in preparing the equipage, uniforms were spotless, and there was a plume at the head of each steed. As it kicked up the dust of the broad highway to the north of Nottingham, the cavalcade was splendid and imposing. The heart of Lady Ann Elizabeth, who rode alone in the rumbling coach, was breaking.

Once when they paused to water the horses in a village the lady peeked out. A swarthy man, out of elbows, who stood in the center of a gaping crowd, caught her eye and gave her a quick smile of assurance. When she looked again he was as stolid and expressionless as the rest. Could it mean there was still a chance? Blue Alan's men were everywhere and this might be a signal. Again, the beat of hoofs and the pitch and roll of the coach. Lady Ann prayed softly for deliverance.

"Tonight I rest in Wyckoff. And on the morning we ride on. It will be about sundown when they meet me." The lady shuddered for this was a wedding journey which meant the end of dreams. Behind six riders kept close to the carriage and ahead there were as many more. Blue Alan would not dare attack; Blue Alan, the knight who had turned outlaw to defy King John. Yet—there was the smile from the swarthy man and the promise of Alan, her lover.

In the stables at Wyckoff, when the horses were turned in, a driver felt fingers close about his throat and the world grew black. In the morning the driver's clothes sat upon another man and the carriage rolled onward. There fell a paper into the lap of Lady Ann, and with it came hope.

Shouts came from the riders when the horses broke and ran. Valiantly the driver struggled with them while the coach swayed and all but overturned. Horsemen seized the brides; one fell and was trampled on. The driver stood with feet braced and pulled with all his strength. They had stopped, at last, almost in front of a crossroads inn. The men thought of the lady.

She opened the door herself, pale and trembling.

"I will rest here a bit," she said. "I am overcome."

"But the delay, Madame—our instructions are to waste no time."

"It will not be over an hour. I cannot go on." The lady's eyes flashed. "I rest here an hour. And when I am ready to go on, see to it we have another driver." The man who had been on the box was gone.

At the end of an hour the Lady Ann left the inn. Wrapped heavily against the cold, or perhaps to hide her agitation, she entered the carriage without a word and the ride was resumed. Now there were but five horsemen ahead, for one of the soldiers was made to serve as driver. The dust rolled from the wheels into the faces of those who rode behind and hung in the air long after the coach had passed. Always the soldiers stayed close, for the forest was near, and the forest, was the stronghold of Blue Alan.

Up to the crossroads inn rode a man who led two horses, and out of the door came a laughing pair.

"See," said Blue Alan to the Lady Ann, pointing to the cloud of dust in the distance, "there rides your cloak and your veil and Will Wallace playing the lady. And now ride with me to the parson and a home beneath the stars. It isn't a palace, my lady, but—"

"But it is home," said the Lady Ann.

The aisles of the forest leading to the home of Blue Alan were broad and carpeted and the lights burned in the windows. In the morning, and for many mornings after, there was a song of birds. The story of how the petticoated Will Wallace burst from the coach and leaped into the saddle of a horse tethered by the road is still told, and men who do not know say it was the Lady Ann herself.

Richard returned to his throne, he laughed long at the story of Alan turned coachman and the "runaway" which afforded the opportunity for a masquerade and an elopement.

Startling Disclosures In Poison Pen Case Mystery

Startling exposures, involving men and women at the top of the social ladder in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, are expected to follow the indictment, by a New York City grand jury, of George Maxwell, immensely rich music publisher and president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. Maxwell, who is now in Europe, is hurrying home to combat charges made by Allan A. Ryan, financier, and son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, that Maxwell is the author of a series of letters received by Mr. Ryan, coupling Maxwell's name with that of Mrs. Allan A. Ryan in an uncomplimentary manner. Scores of other persons high in social life have received similar letters, coupling the names of women with that of Maxwell, and the charge is made that Maxwell himself wrote the letters. In Europe, Maxwell denied the charge, intimating he himself had been a victim of the poison pen, and that a woman wrote them.

Diet and Health

The need of iron for the system is so important that Nature does not take any chances but sends baby animals that nurse (mammals) into the world with a supply in their livers to last them until they are able to chew and so get the food that supplies iron. This has been proved true of puppies, kittens, rabbits and children. Nature gives babies this reserve in preference to supplying iron in their mother's milk, apparently, for milk is deficient in iron; although the small amount that is present is in a very valuable form. Because little calf babies are able to nibble green grass very shortly after they are born, Nature doesn't supply half so much iron in their milk as she supplies in human babies' milk. That is why babies artificially fed on cow's milk have to have foods containing iron sooner than do breast-fed babies.

The chief function of iron is carried on in the blood. It is a part of hemoglobin, which is the chief constituent of the red blood cells, or corpuscles. No iron, no blood—no life. Too little iron, too little blood—too little life. We must have iron, for without it the body cannot make the red blood cells. Here is a little history of the red blood cells that is interesting.

There are 5,000,000 red blood cells in a cubic millimeter of blood. A cubic millimeter is about the size of the head of an ordinary pin. In the whole body, then, you can imagine that the number of red blood cells runs up into the many trillions. Physiologists estimate that one red blood cell lasts about six weeks, and that 7,000,000 red blood cells die every second of our lives. So our work is to make 7,000,000 new red blood cells every second. Now

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

CLEAR BRIGHT EYES
The woman who is seeking to retain her youth and attraction has one consoling thought. No matter how old her face and figure may become, her eyes will always stay young if she wishes them to be so. Old eyes are only seen when the woman has either given up all hope of getting anything further from life, or when she doesn't care.

The best part of it is that the eyes grow more beautiful the older the woman becomes, so they can always balance, or more than balance, the lessening attractions of her other features. "As the moon gives most light when it is full, so a woman's eye yields most in maturity." So says a famous writer.

What they yield in the way of gentleness, or vivacity, intelligence or sweetness depends not only on the woman as she is today but on what she has been. The eyes are a woman's past and present. If she has let herself become narrow and crabbed the ill-nature will show out, but with flashes also of the happier creature she might have become. If she is dull and indifferent to all the possibilities of life her eyes will be dull and indifferent, but they will never be as bad as her nature, because some of her old youth and vivacity must come out now and then. But if she has grown in sweetness and strength with the years, her eyes will hold the record of all her struggles and triumphs.

Of course the woman must take physically good care of her eyes. The most wistful soul loses its appeal when it peers out in a near-sighted squint! The eyes must be rested, they must never be too severely taxed, they should be washed frequently with an antiseptic solution, if they need glasses an oculist should be consulted. It is true that the eye is the soul's window, but, like any window, it needs to be kept clean and clear. Thoughts can be most properly expressed through healthy eyes.

Aggie—Little girls at twelve years of age are often just like yourself, but they get over all their defects after a few more years of growth. There is no reason why your hands will not be "lady-like" in a few more years and your skin and features will refine also.

A. A. M.—As you are overweight and have this tendency to become over-heated, dieting would be very helpful to you and would likely improve your health.

Beef Pie—(I assume that there are still some left-overs from the roast sirloin of beef which my menus called for on Sunday.) Cut the cold, cooked meat into inch-square pieces, until there are two cupsful. Put these pieces into a baking dish and season with one-half teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper, one tablespoon of tomato catsup (or one-third cup of cooked tomatoes), and add one cup of either gravy or hot water. Cover with the following crust:

Crust for a medium-large Meat Pie—Sift together one-half cup of bread flour, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon of baking powder; work into this with the finger-tips one heaping tablespoon of butter, then wet to a stiff paste by adding about one-fourth cup of sweet milk. Roll this out into a circle that will just cover the pie, and bake twenty-five to thirty minutes in a hot oven.

Stuffed Tomatoes—Wash ripe tomatoes and cut a slice from the top of each. Scoop out the interiors and stuff the cavities with canned corn mixed with chopped green pepper. Season well with salt and pepper, and cover the top with buttered bread crumbs. Now place the stuffed tomatoes on a baking pan, pour a very little hot water around them on the pan bottom, and bake in a hot oven until they are tender—about thirty minutes. Serve hot.

Mexican Hash—Boil one-half pound of lean beef until tender, then put it through your meat grinder, as for hash. Also chop finely one tomato and one onion. Put one tablespoon of lard or oil in a frying pan, add the chopped tomato and onion and fry for five minutes, then add the chopped meat, one teaspoon of salt, one half red (or green) pepper cut small, and the broth in which the meat was cooked (about one cupful). Let simmer for twenty minutes, and serve.

Lemon Sponge Pie—"Line a pie-pan with ordinary pastry, but do not bake. Put into bowl two egg yolks and beat well; then add to them one cup of sugar, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, two tablespoons of flour, a pinch of salt, one tablespoon of melted butter and one cup of sweet milk. Last, fold in the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs, and turn this mixture into the pastry-lined tin. Slip the pan into a hot oven (to set the crust), but after five minutes of baking, decrease the heat to "moderate." In all, the pie should bake forty minutes." (Contributed by Mrs. M. P.)

PIPPA PASSES

Cousin Mary called up one day last week. "Meet me down town and have lunch with me," she begged. "It's a day when everything has gone wrong and I need cheering up. John has got to take a business trip that breaks up all our plans for Easter vacation; that means all sorts of delay in getting into the new house; and Katie has given notice that she wants to get married just as soon as I can get a new cook. It's a time when a feller needs a friend."

Cousin Mary is good company at any time, so I accepted the invitation. She met me with the brightest smile in the world. "What's the good news?" I asked.

It is the iron in the hemoglobin of the blood that carries this precious oxygen. And the iron must come from the food. So we must see that we and our children get enough of the food containing iron, mustn't we?

There are certain conditions under which, no matter how much iron is supplied in the food, anemia may be produced. The blood is poisoned by these conditions and cannot take up the iron, but that is not our problem just now. Our problem is to feed our children so that they will get not only a sufficient amount of iron but all the other elements which are needed by the system—and, in so far as the diet is concerned, to keep them strong and well so that these other conditions will not have a chance to gain a foothold with them.

and a new cook—against a situation like hers, I rather felt that I'd received a lesson in sportsmanship from a thoroughbred!

The Cure for Self-Pity

And I agreed with Cousin Mary. I have written about the futility of self-pity before, and perhaps there is no better cure for it than by getting proper perspective of your troubles in some such way as this. I like to recall the old allegory about burdens. You remember how everyone carried his burden on his back and how all the people met one day and each exchanged his load for one that looked lighter or easier to bear. And in less than a week everyone was begging for his own burden back again.

Uncle BEN SAYS:

"It's fine to discover your self. Nervy. It's interesting to find out what you're made of. But it's no fun for nobody else will do it for you."

And, so, flower bed backache, is a form of kidney and liver weakness. The spinal bones controlling the nerve openings to the kidneys and liver are just about the center of the back and stooping aggravates the trouble. A few chiropractic spinal adjustments at this point will restore normal liver and kidney action and clear the system for enduring outdoor weather, without the aches and that dull and lazy feeling peculiar to the body that is not getting rid of waste products rapidly.

BACK IS NORMAL AGAIN

"I wrenched my back and was in continuous pain. My heart and kidneys were ailing. I spent a month in the hospital. At the end of the first year I could do only the simplest kind of work. I tried chiropractic and began to improve. I gained seventeen pounds in seven weeks. Today my back is well, my kidneys are acting normally, and my heart never troubles. I give chiropractic full credit."

BURBANK

GAS COMPANY TO ERECT NEW HOME

$10,000 Brick Building Will House Burbank Plant
In Near Future

The Southern California Gas Company has taken out a permit to erect, at a cost of $10,000, a one-story brick building, twenty-five by eighty feet, together with two other buildings in the rear, a meter-house and garage, on their property near the Security Trust & Savings Bank annex, on Olive street.

S. C. Singer, division manager of the company, in charge of the San Fernando valley, confirms this information, stating that the development of Burbank has reached the point where the officials of the company have deemed it advisable to expand their facilities.

"Burbank now has about 2,000 consumers of our fuel," says Mr. Singer, "with increases of over forty a month. This rapid growth makes it practically imperative for us to install a local plant."

This move on the part of the Southern California Gas Company will be a great convenience to Burbank patrons, giving them a headquarters here, instead of in Glendale, as at present, it is explained.

New Club Members
Mrs. Johnson, of the Women's Club, has announced that forty-three new members were added in the past year, with prospects pointing to the increase of that number to fifty, before the close of the official season. Another thing of which the club is justly proud is that fact that, according to its membership, it polled the largest percentage of voters at the fall election, of any club in this district.

The following officers of the Sunset Canyon Country Club are announced, as a temporary organization to get immediate action: J. H. Alvord, president; T. H. Bridges, secretary and general manager; Dr. C. Stuart Steelman of Glendale and T. H. Bridges and W. O. Cline of Hollywood, directors.

The new officers and directors state it to be their intention to appoint at least four more directors from amongst the membership, and to call a meeting at the clubhouse, in the near future, to consider expedient changes in the fundamental laws of the club.

C. L. Skeen, O. H. Skeen and R. L. Arnheim were in Los Angeles recently, where they witnessed at the Masonic Temple the first degree work as it is put on in France. The work was all in French, and was witnessed by over 500 Masons.

Win Loving Cup
Miss Flossie Scott and Al Burnham are winners of the $50 silver loving cup given by Lester B. Evans, manager of the Palais Majestic, for the best dancers in the contest that has been running for the past five weeks. The young couple won three out of four times they danced. Mr. Eckland of the Russian school of ballet dancing was a judge and presented the cup to the winners, with a few words of praise for their efforts.

The party left Burbank at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and returned the same night.

E. D. Music, seriously injured when his automobile was recently demolished by a Pacific Electric car, continues to improve but is not yet able to be removed to his home.

Mrs. Murry of Roscoe, who was badly injured Tuesday afternoon, May 15, when Mrs. J. E. Thompson, also of Roscoe, with whom she was riding, was killed when a Pacific Electric car struck their machine, is recovering, it is reported, although the full extent of her injuries is not yet known.

Robert, seven-year-old son of Judge and Mrs. A. A. Crawford, is recovering rapidly from a collar bone fracture he suffered recently, when he fell over the porch railing of his own home, striking the ground his head and shoulder.

Mrs. Esther Smith, who has been seriously ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jones, 132 Magnolia avenue, has somewhat recovered, it is reported, from the very grave infection of the scalp said to have been caused from the use of a hair tonic. For several days Mrs. Smith was in a delirious condition and it was necessary to summon a specialist from Los Angeles, who caused an incision to be made in the scalp, since which time the condition of the patient has been slowly but surely improving.

EAGLE ROCK

C. C. DIRECTORS
WILL BE CHOSEN

Needs of Eagle Rock Are Shown by Replies to Questionnaire

Directors of the reorganized Chamber of Commerce of the Eagle Rock section of Los Angeles will be chosen at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, May 22.

The final ballot has been sent out and votes must be in by that hour, announces Ben Schouboe, campaign director. Twenty-four candidates appear on this final ballot, the result of a primary election held last week.

Twelve of these twenty-four will be elected, six to serve for two years and the six receiving fewer votes to serve one year. The candidates returned as a result of the primary election, which was by mail ballot, represented a very even distribution throughout the community, showing that little or no campaigning work had been done.

The names of the twenty-four candidates, without respect to number of votes received, are: O. J. Root, Godfrey Edwards, John G. Caddell, J. Hartley Taylor, Dr. John C. Shedd, John T. Bailey, Earle M. Daniels, Dr. H. B. Crawford, P. F. Schumacher, A. L. McCannan, Sherrill B. Osborne, Fred E. Bliss, P. H. Ducker, Shirley W. Allen, W. R. Johnston, B. B. Martolf, Judge G. W. Craig, Marion M. Null, M. D. C. L. Suits, C. C. Mattison, Emil F. Swanson, J. C. Clausen, M. H. Maxson, C. W. Young.

Answer Questionnaires
Answers to the questionnaires sent out by the Chamber of Commerce organizers with the primary ballot indicate that the Eagle Rock section is wide awake to its needs.

The subjects most stressed as involved in essential improvements, number street-car service, sewer and water problems, fire protection, zoning, street illumination, schools, and a "clean-up" campaign.

Advertising the beauties and advantages of the Eagle Rock section of the city was also indicated, as was the matter of an adequate public park, a high school, a hotel, the problem of automobile parking, the establishment of a local credit association, paving of various streets, and safety devices to cut down traffic accidents.

Five-cent carfare and five-minute service were the two transportation remedies most frequently suggested, while the matter of a high school for Eagle Rock, in conjunction with Occidental College, came in for its share of attention, members realizing that consolidation with Los Angeles deprives the section of the privileges of the Glendale Union High school, hitherto enjoyed.

Active response to this questionnaire indicates that Eagle Rock's reorganized Chamber of Commerce is going to be a live outfit, believes Campaign Manager Schouboe. Many of the points raised will doubtless be taken up at once, he believes, upon election of a board of directors and choosing of a secretary.

Business Women Meet
Definite organization of Business and Professional Women's club was the outcome of a meeting held the night of Thursday, May 17, with Miss Katharine Besolo, 155 Ellenwood drive.

There were thirty young women present, among them Miss Boughton, recently of Chicago, who has had much experience in such matters and who offered some very valuable suggestions.

A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws. The primary purpose of the new organization is announced by one of the members as "getting acquainted and giving girls who work all day an opportunity to enjoy some of the social advantages of girls who go to college."

Besides the regular club programs, various groups and sections will be organized, as the demand arises among the members for special lines of study.

Suggestions have been made to establish sections in gymnastics, dramatic art, hiking, glee club and literature.

The next meeting is announced for Monday night, June 4. "Children are busy planting dahlias for the Parent-Teacher Association prize—but better still, to make Eagle Rock the Dahlia City!" says Mrs. C. W. Young.

As president of the State Music Teachers' association he is making plans for the convention in July at San Jose.

TUJUNGA

DECORATION DAY
PLANS ARE MADE

Honor to Nation's Heroes
Will Be Rendered in Tujunga Churches

General plans for the observance of Memorial Day are being worked out for Tujunga. Henry M. Mingay, past commander of Post No. 202, Department of California and Nevada, G. A. R., has urged that some definite plan be followed and that it be something that will be remembered as befitting the occasion.

His plan is to have the Rev. J. U. Stotts preach the Memorial sermon Sunday morning, May 27, at the Community church. He also suggests that the American Legion hold a flag-raising at Bolton hall on the morning of May 30, proceeding from there to the cemetery and decorating the graves and holding appropriate services.

The churches will all hold special services, and special music will be offered.

The Verdugo Hills Business association has taken the initiative in getting a fire protection district for Tujunga. They are also urging the installation of flood lights in front of the business houses, not only as a protection against marauders, but as an advertising feature that will attract attention at night.

In regard to the fire protection district, Mr. Johnson of the county forest service was in Tujunga last week and showed a bill that has been introduced in the legislature and passed by that body. The provisions of the bill are that the board of supervisors may call a mass meeting in the community for the purpose of forming a fire district. If there is no opposition the supervisors may declare the district formed, otherwise an election must be held.

The expense of such a district would be paid from the county tax fund. It has been unofficially estimated that there would be about $10,000 available for this district. Such a sum would be sufficient to secure the best fire-fighting equipment and a truck and keep a man on duty all the time.

Mr. Kerr, retired, of Virginia, has been in Tujunga looking for a home site. He has been favorably impressed with the community, and will make his future home here if he can get a suitable location.

Held for Larceny
Deputy Sheriff Bert Spencer, Moody, Stanislaus Stevens are arrested William Hartson, better known as One-Armed Bill, last week, on a charge of grand larceny. Hartson was arraigned on the charge and bound over to the superior court for trial.

Captain and Mrs. H. M. Mingay entertained recently at their home on Michigan avenue, "Twin Oaks," in celebration of their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary. Several beautiful bouquets were received from friends and neighbors, and Louis Mucha, baker, presented a cake for the occasion.

Those present were: Mrs. E. M. Smith, daughter of the couple; John R. Barret, of Los Angeles, best man at the wedding fifty-six years ago, at Saratoga Springs, New York; Mrs. W. E. Perry, another daughter, and son, of Tujunga; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie P. Damewood and son, Leslie, Jr., and daughter, Edith, of Orange.

Captain Mingay is well known in Grand Army circles. Another new subdivision has been placed on the market. E. W. Morgan is selling his property along Michigan avenue in lots. The tract is just west of Michigan and Walnut, and the frontage on Michigan avenue is for business lots only. These lots have a depth of 112 feet, with varying widths. The land is planted in muscat grapes.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Weaver and family of Orange were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Klatt recently at dinner.

The Sunset Fair on Sunset boulevard, has enlarged the stock to include ladies' and gentlemen's ready-to-wear garments, and will also do tailoring in the future. Mr. Lipson, proprietor, has had considerable experience in the tailoring business, and is equipped to give high-class work at low prices.

Phil Reihm, grocer, has a new Ford touring car, which he purchased from James Blaine last week. Mr. Blaine is local representative of Charles Chapman of San Fernando.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Baker are spending a vacation at Big Bear lake.

Mrs. Emma Cusic of Los Angeles has purchased property on Pine street, and will improve the property before moving in.

Patriotic Address Dealing

Wins Applause

The Parent-Teacher association held their regular meeting in the school auditorium when the new officers for the coming year were also elected. These are: President, Mrs. Angier; first vice-president, Mrs. Rhenhart; second vice-president, Mrs. Telfer; secretary, Mrs. Adkins; treasurer, Mrs. Hanson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Tritt; historian, Mrs. Burt.

Mrs. Turk gave a splendid talk on the origin of the "Stars and Stripes." This talk she had written since the war for the Legion, and her facts she verified from the records in Washington, D. C.

A rising vote of thanks was accorded her at the conclusion of her address. Plans were then discussed for the picnic, which, it was decided, would be held in Brookside park (the day after school closes), which will be June 16. A committee to look after transporting the children, was named. Mesdames Rhenhart, Christman, Miller, Telfer, Czernicki, Weaver and Adkins being chosen.

The first Thursday in June was arranged as the day of the last meeting of the year.

Officers will be installed at this meeting and the final arrangements for the picnic made. Mr. Peck was appointed a committee of one to make table reservations.

Graduation June 14
Graduating exercises will take place the evening of June 14.

The last egg drive of the school year will be held next week and all children are urged to make a record at this time. Last month's drive netted 13 dozen eggs. These eggs are given to the poor children of Macy Street school. The Parent-Teacher association would also like the parents to bundle up any old clothes and shoes they have and send them to school, so they may also go to the poor children with the eggs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Miller and son James of West Montrose avenue were house guests at a week end at Anaheim Landing. Swimming and boating were enjoyed by the guests, of whom there were eight.

Mrs. A. W. Brown has returned from a few days' visit spent at Ocean Park.

A new attraction at the La Crescenta Pharmacy is an orange crush fountain. This is a glass barrel with pure fruit juice and an inner barrel which holds ice so one may have a perfect iced drink on the hottest day.

Room Mothers of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades gave a party at the school last week. The 7th grade honored Miss Minnie Chrisman, whose birthday it was, and a birthday cake with candles had the place of honor. Room Mothers for this grade are Mrs. C. O. Miller and Mrs. Klatt. As the latter was unable to be present, Mrs. Austin, the principal, assisted Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Chrisman is room mother of the 7th grade; Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Craig mothers of the 6th grade. All brought home-made cakes, which, of course, the kiddies enjoyed heartily.

Mrs. Tobey Wildhack is the recipient of very cheerful messages from the Montague Glass home in Pasadena in regard to Mr. Glass' condition. He is improving so well as to have had visitors for a few minutes. He is best known for his writing "Potash and Perlmutter" stories. The Wildhacks are close family friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Weaver and family of Orange were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Klatt recently at dinner.

The Sunset Fair on Sunset boulevard, has enlarged the stock to include ladies' and gentlemen's ready-to-wear garments, and will also do tailoring in the future. Mr. Lipson, proprietor, has had considerable experience in the tailoring business, and is equipped to give high-class work at low prices.

Twenty-one pupils will graduate this year on June 14 from the La Crescenta school. School is officially over for the year on June 15, but the exercises will be held on Thursday, June 14, and the last day will be devoted to a picnic by the graduating class. Pupils and teachers are busy with plans and examinations.

This is the largest class in the history of the school and most of the graduates intend to continue through high school. Admission to the exercises will be by invitation only, as the accommodations are limited in the auditorium where they will be held.

The registration this year shows an increase of about 150 over last year and forty have entered since the first of the year. There are now 280 pupils registered, with new ones still coming in. The list of graduating pupils includes the following: Kenneth Carlson, Margaret Abrea Brown, Stewart Tenney Baron, Elleda Fern Adams, Willis Marsh Heimer, Sarah Sadie Goldberg, Charlotte Marie Foy, Zella Katherine Dunlop, James William Hooper, Mary Ann Howard, Frank William Klate, Charles Leland Mead, Grace Lenore Lewis, Florence Alberta Leuer, James Miller, Walter Mehard, Mary Louise Mundy, Irene Lillian Murdock, Dorothy Elouise Wooly, Beatrice Elizabeth Wadey, Florence Elvanore Peterson.

TODAY—Chicago's Boxing Injunction; It Will Expire Some Day Soon and a House Turned Against Itself.

TOMORROW—Gossip of a Pastime in Far East; the Tale of the New Diplomat; a Choice Bit of Scandal, by Duke N. Parry, Tokio Correspondent.

By H. C. HAMILTON
For International News Service

CHICAGO, May 21.—They're having quite a time in Chicago getting things set for a revival of the boxing game. Not that the box fighters are not making merry, nor anything like that, but one of these days the injunction under which things are operating is going to come to a close and then the law will step in.

Just to show what can happen when greedy men get started after a law that will make it legal for them to make money out of a game that now is legally banned, the case of the "Boxing Alliance" in Chicago is cited. The alliance is an organization of fans, promoters, managers and boxers, banded together to strive to the utmost in concert to induce the Illinois Legislature to legalize bouts along the lines of the law now operating in the state of New York.

The alliance holds meetings, and at one of these a few nights ago the alliance made a very fine show of demonstrating an alliance that does not ally.

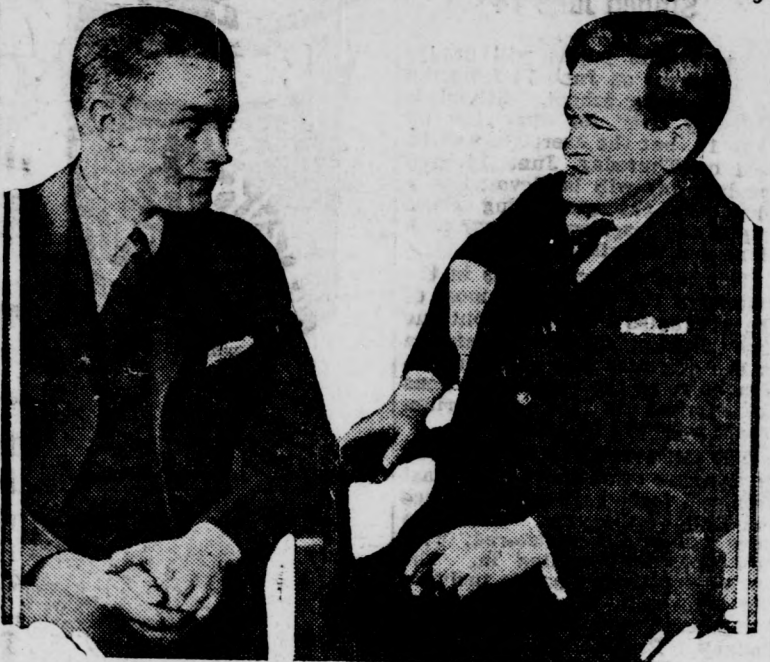

A gentleman who had seen fit to run things at his auditorium without the sanction of the alliance, and in opposition to a boxing entertainment that did come under the sanction of the alliance, was put on the pan and roasted to an even brown. And as the process was brought to a conclusion several members within the organization leaped to their feet and attempted to defend the man. They wanted him brought back. And then a man who represented the promoter hopped to attention with some well-chosen and fitting remarks. The net result was at least six men on their feet, all talking at once and all waving their arms under beaming brows.

And that's not all. After the bout was over the little Indiana battler complained of an aching shoulder, which had pained throughout the melee. Examination a week later disclosed a fractured first rib, received in a gymnasium mixup.

MOVIES IN YOUR BRAIN

Sense and Motor Areas of the Brain

What do you see with?

With your eyes, you would doubtless say. But you don't really. They are indispensable optical instruments, but that is all.

It is the back of your head that sees—the rear part of the brain, that is to say. There are located the centers of vision, where perceptions of objects seen are formed.

The eye is lined with a nerve-screen which serves the same purpose as a dry-plate in a camera. In fact, the eye is a little camera, the photographs it takes being registered upon the above-mentioned nerve-screen. They are, of course, mere fleeting impressions. The nerve-screen is an expansion of the optic nerve, which enters the eye at the back. You have, of course, two optic nerves, which pass backward into the brain. For some reason unknown, a little way back, they cross each other, the nerve of the right eye passing to the left and vice versa. Further along in their extension rearward they split up into a multitude of nerve fibers.

The pictures taken by the eyes are thus communicated to the rear part of the brain, where, in a figurative sense, they are thrown upon a screen. Thus it is that we see them. They are moving pictures. In effect, the rear brain is a movie theatre, in which there is a continuous performance.

But the back part of the brain is more than that. It is a storehouse for "films." Put away and after a fashion indexed, they represent our visual memories. How wonderful it is to think of the multitudes of such memory pictures that are thus stored away! Among them are pictures of our childhood and youth, which have for us a keenly sentimental interest. Now and then in reflective moments we take these early films out of their pigeonholes and "run" them. With the passage of time they have deteriorated and grown indistinct, but parts of them are very clear.

In our dreams many memory pictures run themselves, more or less confused and indistinct. Often, in sleep, they show to us the images of friends and relatives long dead; yet, curiously enough, it never occurs to us under such circumstances to wonder how they can have "come alive" again. The movie theatre is dim, and we view the pictures as they come along, uncritical of their reasonableness.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND CHARLIE'S CHICK

Once upon a time Arabella Chick, the little hen girl, saw her brother Charlie, a small rooster, walking very softly and slyly through the woods.

"What are you going, Charlie Chick?" asked Arabella. "Are you playing hide and go seek with Billie Wagtail? 'Cause if you are—"

"Sush!" whispered Charlie, flipping one wing at his sister. "I'm not playing hide and go seek. But keep quiet."

"I don't see why I should keep quiet if you aren't playing any game," cackled Arabella. "What hurt does it do to make a noise?"

"Will you please sush?" begged Charlie. "I'm following after Uncle Wiggily and I don't want him to hear me."

"Following after Uncle Wiggily?" exclaimed Arabella. "What in the world for?"

"I'm going to rescue and save him when he has an adventure with the Fox or Wolf," answered Charlie, crowing softly.

"Pooh! You couldn't save Uncle Wiggily from the Fox or Wolf or even the Skilley Skallery Alligator," cackled Arabella, sort of snippy like.

"I just guess I can!" crowed Charlie. "You wait until I come back and I'll tell you about it. I don't want Uncle Wiggily to know it, but I'm going to follow him, and when the Bob Cat pops out I'll save his ears."

"Whose—the Bob Cat's?" laughed Arabella.

"No—of course not!" Uncle Wiggily's. Think you're smart, don't you?" and Charlie strutted away sort of huffy like and dignified.

Arabella wanted to laugh, but she didn't. She happened to think that, after all, Uncle Wiggily might have an adventure, and Charlie might, accidentally, happen to save him.

"Stranger things have happened," said Arabella, wisely. "Uncle Wiggily hoped, on through the woods, looking for an adventure, as he often did. His pink nose twinkled delicately. Behind the rabbit gentleman, but unseen by him, came Charlie Chick.

"I hope I can be a hero," crowed Charlie softly.

There was a rustling noise in the bushes just ahead of Uncle Wiggily, and all of a sudden, out popped the Bob Cat.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Uncle Wiggily as soon as he saw the bad animal. "Oh, dear!"

"Not at all, dear—very cheap, I call them," snickered the Bob Cat. "I mean your ears are very cheap—I'm going to nibble them for nothing."

"Well, I suppose I cannot help it," sighed the bunny gentleman. "At least it will be an adventure."

"Yes, you might call it that!" laughed the Bob Cat, and he was just getting ready to nibble the bunny's ears when, all of a sudden, out popped the Bob Cat.

den, out from the bushes flew Charlie Chick.

"Cock-a-doodle-do!" crowed the rooster boy, for that was his way of talking. "Cock-a-doodle-do!" crowed Charlie.

Now the Bob Cat could not hear very well, and he thought the rooster boy had asked, "What are you going to do?" So the Bob Cat howled and said:

"I'm going to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears, that's what I'm going to do." But Charlie crowed again, "Cock-a-doodle-do!" and once more the Bob Cat thought the rooster boy asked, "What you going to do?"

"Look here!" howled the Bob Cat, getting angry. "I want no more of your fooling. I told you that I was going to do—nibble ears. Don't you ask me again!" But, once more, Charlie crowed rather teasingly, "Cock-a-doodle-do!" and it sounded like "What you going to do?" And it made the Bob Cat so angry that he let go of Uncle Wiggily and chased

GLENDALE LOSES BY 3 TO 2 SCORE

Lankershim Game Protested By Manager, Charging Raw Decisions

The Glendale team that went up against the Lankershim nine yesterday came home with the short end of a 3 to 2 score, after putting up one of the biggest battles that has ever been seen on any diamond and after giving an exhibition of ball playing that was marked by flashes of big league form throughout.

The loss of the game is blamed entirely by the players on the decisions of the umpire, which, they claim, were rank in many instances, and Manager Walter Heidler has already filed a protest against the decision and will take the matter up at the meeting of the managers tonight. Heidler declares that the Glendale team is made up of boys who can stand up under defeat as well as any other aggregation in the league, but he says he is going to raise a howl when his boys are robbed as flagrantly as they were yesterday.

Heidler started off on the mound, but the Lankershim boys evidently liked his fast stuff, as Prince nicked him for a well-served homer and several of the other players got to him before he changed pace and began serving slow stuff that they could not connect with.

Charlie Flanders, at second base, starred when he handled the assists without a miss, including one that looked impossible and that deserved to be called a prettiest play of the season. Early Wilson at short also distinguished himself, besides slugging out two hits, one of which was a two-bagger.

Sports On Shipboard

HERE COMES ONE OF MY GREAT GRAND SONS UP T'BAT LOUGHTA LET HIM MAKE A HIT-THRU ME JUST TO ENCOURAGE HIM

HANS WAGNER WAS 43 WHEN HE PLAYED HIS LAST BIG GAME

THORPE STILL PLAYS A GREAT GAME OF FOOTBALL AND HE'S PAST THIRTY-FIVE

The spark of youth and the "will to win" burns in few men's breasts after the fortieth year. That is, in sports that require great physical activity, such as boxing, wrestling, baseball or rowing.

At forty-five have the stamina to go the full route. Many might stick for a short period at a fast clip, in competition, but the reserve strength soon becomes depleted and there is little left to draw from after the first clash. That spark which makes youth untiring has died out and no amount of urging can make it flare when a man passes two-score.

There are a few who have been champions in their forties and late thirties, but they are exceptions. The most phenomenal case is that of Stanislaus Zbyszko the wrestler who at forty-seven battled Strangler Lewis for two hours and won the world's title. He was still strong and fresh at the finish.

Jess Willard, the one-time heavyweight champion, is well on the road to his former laurels, at forty-three years of age. Jess has proven that age makes no difference.

Hans Wagner at forty-three was still a contender for the world's title in the National League. "Pop" Anson was one year older before the great umpire, Pop Time, called him out for the last time. They don't play baseball much past the age of forty in the big time.

Thirty-seven seems to be the dead line for pugilists. Fitzsimmons was thirty-five when he won the title from Corbett and thirty-seven when he lost it to Jeffries. Jack Britton hung on to the welterweight crown right up to his thirty-seventh birthday. Jeffries was physically perfect when he fought Johnson, but his brain collapsed. He was around thirty-five.

In football, another strenuous sport, we find few old-timers taking an active part in games, but many old coaches work strenuously with their men, and Jim Thorpe still plays a great game of football—and he is past thirty-five.

Take tennis. Norman Brooks, the great Australian, was a member of the Davis Cup team from that island continent at the age of forty-three.

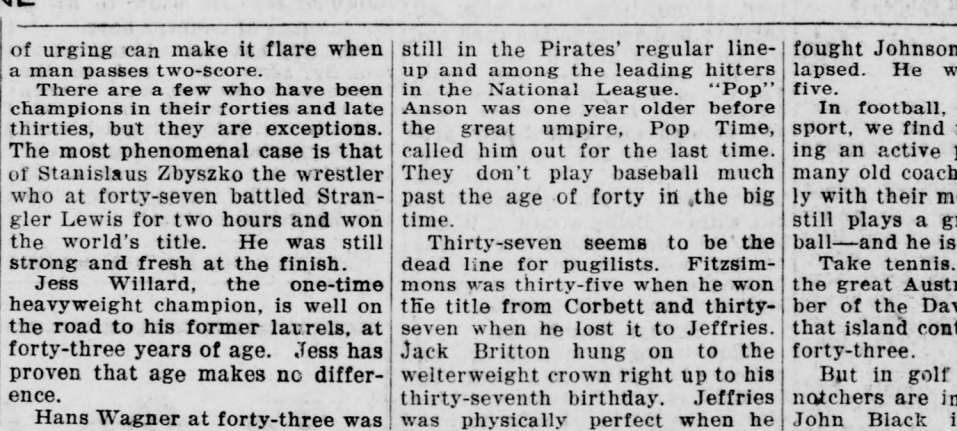

But in golf many of our top-notchers are in their late forties. John Black in his fifties came within one stroke of winning the open last year. Vardon is forty-five. And John Bull, who won the British amateur championship when forty-nine, is still a top-notch and close to sixty.

Then don't overlook Mrs. Caleb Fox of Philadelphia, sixty-three, who this winter defeated Glenna Collett, one of the greatest women golfers that ever swung a club and good enough to win a national championship. Mrs. Fox broke eighty and all her ten grandchildren were glad.

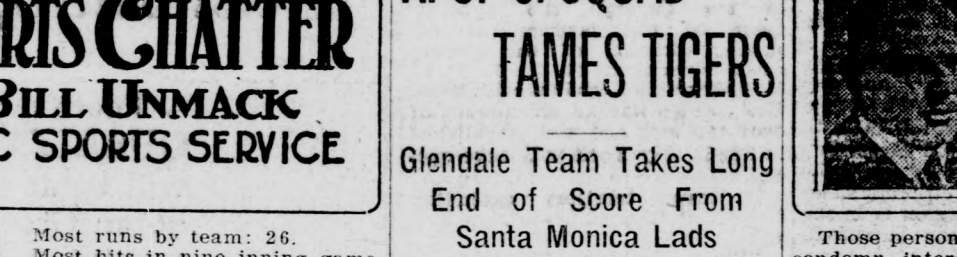

So, for the man or woman past forty who desires competition in sport, golf is the best bet.

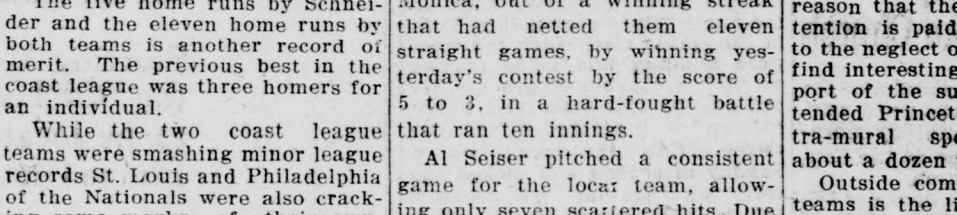

ITZSIMMONS HELD THE HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE UNTIL HE WAS 37 WHEN JEFFRIES BEAT HIM. FITZ WHIPPED CORBETT TWO YEARS PREVIOUS

YANKS CLEAN UP ON WESTERN TRIP

Eastern Ball Teams Winning Steadily From Rivals in Big Leagues

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, May 21.—Casting a casual eye over the baseball pennant races at the moment, the impression will not dawn that the reputed strength of the west is very weak. The Yankees, for example, took the late Horace Greeley at his word and are now willing to concede that the old gentleman played an inside tip. The west is proving a happy hunting ground for ambitious baseball clubs.

In successive series with the Indians, Tigers, Browns and White Sox, the Huggins outfit won 10 out of 11 games, the Tigers being responsible for the lone defeat. The league champions have two more games with the Sox but regardless of what may happen there the trip must go down as one of the most successful the Yanks have known.

Indians Collapse
They started the tour with fear, duly warned of the dire fate that awaited them west of the Alleghenies. But they found the Indian bubble in a state of collapse, due to untimeliness in pitching and weakness at first base; the Tigers trying to cover up a ragged hole in the middle of the infield and the Browns hopeless without Sisler.

Seven successive victories have fallen to the Yankees in the west. The Athletics, bearing a singular resemblance to a ball club, have won six straight from western clubs. So much for that.

In the National League, the Giants have been almost equally successful in their inter-sectional games at the Polo grounds. The Pirates, playing indifferent baseball except in the game that Babe Adams pitched, dropped two out of three. So did the Reds, who seemed to be laboring under the handicap of a wild-eyed defense in and around second base. The Cubs flopped two times in three starts and the Cardinals the only western entry running to form, were beaten with painstaking thoroughness in the opening game of the series yesterday.

So, for the man or woman past forty who desires competition in sport, golf is the best bet.

M'GRAW REFUSES TO PICK WINNER

Giant Mogul Is Silent on Chances of His Team To Cop Pennant

NEW YORK, May 21.—Early speed being as deceptive as a politician's smile, John McGraw declines to pick his New York Giants as prospective winners of their third successive National league pennant, in spite of appearances to the contrary. The Giants are four and a half games in front of the field at this immature moment, but John seems to feel that you cannot judge a meal by the hors d'oeuvres.

"If this was September 1 and the Giants were going as they are now, I wouldn't mind chancing a prediction," quoth John, his tones soft. "As it is, it injures, and the breaks mean too much to forecast months in advance. That is why I take issue with men who are waiting the alleged fact that the Giants have broken up the National league race. That contention is very silly."

Race Starts July 15
"Why, the race doesn't actually begin until July 15. If the Giants were in the second division right now, I doubt whether it would cause me much concern, because I realize, as I am sure Pat Moran, Bill McKee, Bill Killebrew and other managers do, that the clubs are only jockeying at this stage of the proceedings."

"I have been in baseball thirty-five years and that has been long enough to teach me that the standing of the clubs in May is all too seldom an indication of their final rating."

McGraw looks upon the Reds, Cubs and Cardinals as dangerous, but he actually fears the Pirates. "The Pirates did not hit against out pitchers in the recent series, but the punch is there just the same," he declared.

"The Cardinals and Cubs are good baseball clubs. They are in contending positions and may challenge our lead at any time. In fact, the entire league is beginning to pick up."

NEW YORK, May 21.—Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, informed International News Service today that Wills and Jack Dempsey are virtually matched to meet in a heavyweight championship bout at Long Island City on Labor day. Every detail of the bout except the actual signing of the contract has been settled, he declared, and added that the match would be held in a specially constructed arena, seating 150,000 persons.

"Dempsey, I understand, has been offered 37 1/2 per cent of the receipts; we will get 12 1/2 per cent," said Mullins. "I don't know how much money will be taken in at the gate, but if the capacity of 150,000 is touched the receipts may total in the neighborhood of a million and a half."

The site of the proposed arena is about 15 minutes from the heart of New York City, and is now sitting pretty with an average of .401 for the 44 games in which he has played.

Ten points behind him, Ellison of the Seals is in second place among the batters who have played in 40 or more games. Ellison's average is .391 for 45 games.

JUSTICE STANDS ON GOLDEN RULE

Relations of Capital and Labor Are Discussed
By Rev. C. A. Cole

"Will capital and labor get together?" was the inquiry last night at the Central Christian church, by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Cole.

"The teaching of Christianity seems to lay as a basis for happy and permanent human relationships the Golden Rule, brotherhood in Jesus Christ and the practice of justice for the last man. Without the recognition of this principle and without the recognition of its divine authority, there can be no peace between institutions and men. The church must aggressively seek to make the principle living and effective by the power of Jesus in the lives of men.

"To me there is a menace more ominous to our American institutions and men. The church must aggressively seek to make the principle living and effective by the power of Jesus in the lives of men.

"To me there is a menace more ominous to our American institutions than the agitator and worse than the trust magnate. A greater menace to society is the smug, self-satisfied, middle-class, stand-patter, the people who are quite content with things as they are and who can't for the life of them see why working men should ask for an increase in wages and who do not want any change if it is going to disturb the even tenor of their ways. These are the people who are very largely responsible for the radicalism that is sweeping over the world today.

Age Old Problem

"The labor and industrial problem is one of the most tremendous situations of today—and a hopeful sign of the future. It is not a twentieth century problem, but ages old. Most of us realize that it is world-wide but not that it is world-old.

"The facts of history are intelligible only where we note the struggles of the laboring classes to raise their standards of living. It is not imagination to think of the Exodus as a strike, preceded by the demand of a walking delegate for a living wage and recognition of the union.

"The histories of Rome and Greece are economic struggles of the masses against the classes. The rise and fall of feudalism, the absolute monarchy, the coming of the Reformation, the general establishment of popular government, has been based upon political, social and economic enfranchisement of the working classes.

"I believe that the average working man is too close to the labor question to understand it adequately. What is true of the average working man is also true of the average employer, only more so. The average capitalist is so engrossed in the turning over of capital that he sometimes forgets that there is a great, vital human problem at his side, his office door. And he fails to walk up to it sometimes until he hears the banging on the door of the committee of the Labor Union. Both labor and capital need a larger outlook upon the labor problem.

"There is no disputing that, while organized labor has done some things that have been disgraceful and has made many mistakes, it has been a factor in many reforms and uplifts of the laborer. It has done more to abolish child labor than any other organization. It has done more to wipe out unsanitary working conditions in shops and tenements. It has fought for a more temperate living on the part of laboring men, and many other things, wholesome.

Both Are Human

"There is no disputing the facts, that while so-called capital has oppressed, discriminated, made graft a stretch to heaven, and monopolized most of the luxuries of this rich land, that it has made possible the use of our great resources, has built great industries and laid out marvelous enterprises, etc.

"The average labor union man and workman is not a crook nor a grafter nor a man inimical to social welfare, neither is the average boss a crook and thief. One is as human as the other and each is responsible for bad social conditions and for social unrest and for political chicanery and graft. If the political situation is rotten in any place it is liable to be laid at the door of either or both.

"Will the Church, having created this spirit of social unrest, step aside and allow the professional agitator and the Bolshevik to come and usurp the place belonging to it, or will the church finish the task it so long ago began?

"The church has made mistakes. It has humans in it. But, if the church has no clear message regarding the suffering of a common humanity and no message whereby men may be brothers, then its task is done and it is a waning power."

DUET AT ST. MARK'S

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services, yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Trust God to Limit, Urges Rev. Edmonds

"Faith's Challenge" was the subject of Rev. W. E. Edmonds' sermon at the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning. Using the text in Romans 8:31 he said: "A single word is often the pivot on which infinite and eternal issues turn. A single word might throw a cloud of uncertainty upon the title of an estate of millions of dollars and render the inheritance worthless. If there be a shadow of doubt of God's being for us then the whole superstructure of hope and promise is built upon the sand. No such uncertainty exists. Not if, but since, is God's great assurance. Better to have a little with perfect title than a kingdom with a flaw in the conveyance.

"That God is our salvation is the basis of all Christian faith and conduct. He is not for us because of merit on our part. He is for us on the basis of His faithful and unchanging word. God's mercy is on your side. He loves to save the lost. His justice is on your side because Christ has paid the debt. God is therefore bound in all justice to save the soul that trusts in Christ. God's truth is for you. 'Heaven and earth shall pass away,' but my word shall not pass away." The hand that wrought the mighty wonders of past ages has not lost its ancient power. Some things may not seem to be for us but let us wait until all the threads have been woven together, then we'll understand.

"God is for our future. When He took us, He knew the worst in us. He has given us of His power to meet every trial. Then why should we worry and fret? When we worry we distrust His power and that is sin. He will never fail us nor forsake us. The wonders of His love should lead us to trust Him to the limit."

Church's Open Doors Challenge to Conquest

"I have set before thee an open door and no man can shut it!" This was the text of the sermon yesterday morning at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church. "When the Lord opens a door of privilege or service and bids His people enter," said Rev. H. C. Mullen, "no man can close the door. Human opposition against the church is powerless to defeat the program of God which He is carrying on, in and through the church.

"If man is impotent to thwart the purpose of God, if man, when joined in purpose with the Divine Will, become the agent through which God makes His word to prevail and His kingdom to come to all the earth.

"The church of God is omnipotent until its task is accomplished. The open doors inviting the church to enter are the Master's challenge to conquest. The church, which dares follow where the divine Lord leads, will never suffer defeat."

Pastor Preaches on Paul's Italian Trip

"In the Footsteps of St. Paul in Italy" was the topic of an illustrated lecture by Rev. C. M. Calderwood last night at the Congregational church.

Howard E. Cavanah, of 130 130 North Orange street, director of the music at this church, sang as a tenor solo, "O Jesus, Thou Art Standing."

The Christian Endeavor met at 6:30 and members talked upon the theme: "Something in the Bible That Has Helped Me."

The morning music included the singing of "Jesus, Master," by Schaecker, as a solo by Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah.

Music Is Feature at Evangelist Services

"The Return of the Traitor" was the subject of Miss Amy Lee Stockton, evangelist, yesterday morning, at the First Baptist church.

Miss Bernice Center sang as a contralto solo Mendelssohn's "But the Lord Is Mindful of His Own."

The evening subject was "The Tragedy of a Young Man's Life." As a tenor solo Robert M. Ford, of 715 North Central avenue, sang "I'm a Pilgrim."

Miss Reta Gould of Long Beach led the singing at both services.

Yokohama's Import Trade Shows Growth

TOKIO, May 21.—Foreign trade in Yokohama in March, according to customs reports there, was unusual for that port, the balance of trade being in favor of imports.

The total value of goods exported was $54,000,000 ($27,000,000), while the imports amounted to $50,000,000 ($30,000,000). Generally speaking the trade was an improvement.

CHRISMAN PREACHES

Rev. C. H. Chrisman, of 304 East Chestnut street, preached yesterday at both services of the Gospel tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

CHURCH BOARD MEETS

The Nazarene church will hold its regular monthly board meeting Thursday night at the church.

CLASS PLANS TO AID MISSIONARY

Funds Raised at Concert to Help Furnish Home in African Field

The May business meeting of the Live Cole Sunday school class of the Central Christian church, corner Louise and Colorado streets, by a vote of the members it was decided to postpone the scheduled entertainment until Friday night, June 15, when a silver collection will be taken and the proceeds will go toward supplying the household goods to Rev. and Mrs. Willard H. Learned on their missionary trip to Africa next year.

In addition to the original program a number of professional musicians and entertainers will help to make the affair a success. Mesdames H. B. Miller and I. B. Carlock, in charge of arrangements, state that the complete program will be announced within a few days.

Urges Young Men to Higher Life Ideals

"The glory of young men is their strength."

This proverb yesterday morning formed the basis for the sermon at the First Lutheran church.

"On the last Lord's day we learned that the woman is the glory of the man," remarked Dr. H. C. Funk. "This morning we want to stimulate our young men to a desire for higher ideals in life as there never was a time when there were greater possibilities for advancement."

"However much we may differ on the subject of an ideal woman, I am sure that the men here will agree with me when I say that there is no such thing as an ideal man today. Where, then, shall we go to find the ideal man? Christianity alone gives the answer in the person of Jesus.

"Emerson says that every hero becomes a bore at last. But not so with Jesus. After nearly 2000 years have passed the most powerful microscope of criticism has failed to discover a single flaw in the character of the Nazarene."

Birthday of Church Is Theme of Sermon

A Whitsunday sermon was preached yesterday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

"We celebrate today the birthday of the Christian church," said Rev. Philip K. Kemp. "It is difficult for us to visualize that scene centuries ago when a small band of devoted men gathered in an upper room in Jerusalem to receive the promise of the ascended Lord.

"The Holy Spirit came to guide them in that quest we have learned to call 'The Christian Life.' As St. Paul wrote many years later, 'For as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God.'"

"Personally, I cannot think of the Holy Spirit apart from Jesus Christ. Just as our interpretation of God, the Father, must come through our knowledge of Jesus, so the Holy Spirit has meaning for us just as Jesus means much to us. It is our guide to the ever-present fellowship with Jesus without which our religion becomes a sham."

Hold Church Service In Legion's Hall

The congregation of the Broadway Methodist church, South, yesterday voted to hereafter hold their services in the forenoon. As the church building recently purchased from the Presbyterians will not be available for several months the official board has secured the American Legion hall at 610 East Broadway, for that purpose, and beginning next Sunday services will be held at the new location. Sunday school will convene at 9:45 and the preaching service will be at 11 o'clock.

'Lights of World' Is Livingston's Theme

"Lights of the World, as Compared to the Light of the World" was the theme chosen by Rev. J. C. Livingston, of the Casa Verdugo church, for his sermon at the Sunday morning service. An anthem, "Voice of Many Waters," was rendered by the choir, with soprano and alto duet parts by Mrs. R. D. Jones and Mrs. Curtis B. Smith, and bass solo parts by R. D. Jones. A contralto solo was sung by Mrs. Cordray.

SING IN CHURCH

Miss Helen Anderson and her sister, Miss Winifred Anderson, of 118 North Louise street sang last night at the Nazarene church.

CHURCH BOARD MEETS

The Nazarene church will hold its regular monthly board meeting Thursday night at the church.

Need for Prayer Told In Millikan's Sermon

Services at the Broadway Methodist church, South, yesterday were of unusual interest. A splendid musical program was rendered by the large choir, led by Will J. Myers. At the close of the sermon Mr. and Mrs. Myers sang a most beautiful duet.

Rev. L. J. Millikan, the pastor, used as his topic, "Prayer: Why We Should Pray." His text was Luke 18th chapter, 1st verse: "Men ought always to pray and not to faint."

"The words of this command come from the lips of Him who is perfect in wisdom and knowledge, and is therefore correct. Some have foolishly said, 'There is no need for prayer,' which, if true, would make this passage of Scripture untrue, and we know God's word is true, therefore it proves such a statement to be untrue.

"We should pray, first, because prayer is one of the highest forms of worship, and has three distinct elements of worship: it recognizes God as the only true God; it contains confession; it contains thanksgiving, the latter being the very highest form of true worship. We should pray, second, because Jesus promises to reward our faith. He tells us to enter into our closet and secretly to pray to our Heavenly Father, who will reward us openly. We should pray, third, because of the many examples of answers to prayer."

Winnard Tells Lesson From Life of Job

"Lessons From the Life of Job" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Tropic Presbyterian church.

Dr. James E. Winnard stated that the patience of Job under severe trial was such a virtue that a search into his life for other profitable lessons has been neglected. He stated that this praying man put to shame many parents who but seldom, if ever, pray with or for their children.

"If Los Angeles county had more praying parents," he remarked, "it would not need to pay over a million dollars a year for care for delinquent children. Praying would be better than paying taxes."

"Surely here was a map in whom religion was more than a matter of environment. With his principles, his property and his person all under severe trial, yet he came through it all with faith unshaken. Men live in their own soul when they say they would be more religious if circumstances were different. Religion is in the heart and not in the surroundings."

Pentecost Is Topic At Lutheran Church

Rev. H. O. Kringle spoke of the fruit and result of the great miracle of Pentecost yesterday morning during his sermon at the Concordia Lutheran church.

"Our Gospel today does not tell of the wonderful outpouring of the Holy Ghost," he remarked. "It goes a step further and tells of the fruit and result. The great miracle of the outpouring of the Holy Ghost is narrated in the Epistle of the day. It was on Sunday morning, the tenth day after His ascension, when they were all assembled in a certain building in Jerusalem, most likely the temple. This was a festival day for the children of Israel, and that may account for the presence of the disciples in the temple. It was the fiftieth day after the Feast of the Passover, called in the Greek language 'Pentecost,' meaning 'Fiftieth.'"

"On this day Jerusalem was generally filled with throngs of people coming in from the provinces to worship the Lord in the temple and to thank Him and offer sacrifice for the first fruits of harvest."

London Is Eager to Witness Star's Return

LONDON, May 21.—English musical circles are awaiting with considerable interest an American contribution to English music in the reappearance of Meta Reddish upon the concert stage.

Born in Buffalo, Miss Reddish won international fame as prima donna of the Buenos Aires Opera company and with the Chicago Grand Opera company. She made her debut at the San Carlo Opera, of Naples, and sang leading soprano roles opposite Bonci, Titta Ruffo, Constantino and Lazzaro. At the height of her success Miss Reddish gave up her career for a domestic life, when she married an English army officer.

Now, after three years' absence from the concert stage, she is preparing to return and to make a tour of England and the continent.

SCIENCE TOPIC

"Mortals and Immortals" was the topic of discussion yesterday morning at the Christian Science church.

TIRE, RIM STOLEN

V. L. Lammere of 400 West Elk street Friday night had a tire and rim stolen from the rear of his automobile.

OLD GLENDALE SENDS GREETING

W. D. McRae Writes Letter Telling Experiences of Life in East

The renewal of friendships through the columns of the Glendale Evening News is one of the opportunities of the new era. Letters from former Glendaleans are always welcome at the News office, and many expressions of favorable comment on the publication have been received from subscribers and readers.

Glendale friends of Mr. and Mrs. William D. McRae, former Glendale residents, will read with interest the following letter from him to A. T. Cowan, owner and publisher of The Glendale Evening News, and to other friends. Mr. and Mrs. McRae live at 44 1/2 School street, Concord, New Hampshire. Mr. McRae is state secretary for county Y. M. C. A. work. He says:

"I am going to put my intentions of long standing into action and send a message through the columns of your valuable paper to our friends and acquaintances of Glendale."

"It is superfluous to say that my thoughts have turned many times to what we regard as our home town and that we have read with a lively interest everything pertaining to its growth and progress. We have been warm on the subject of Glendale's beauties and future on all occasions. We have told of its unusual setting of mountains, its high ideals, its schools, churches, lodges and the woman's club building."

"Folks tell us that we will need a guide when we return. Well, we will return home in due time even if we are put to the extra expense of a guide, and although our estate will have become so prohibitive that we will have to take to the mountain peaks like our winged friends."

"In the meantime we are looking forward to a period of years, which we hope will prove to be the most interesting and satisfactory of our lives. We have all come to bad spots in the road and we know how fine it feels when the foot rests on firm soil again. The worse the spot the more comfortable the feeling. Ours was bad enough and sufficiently prohibitive to the feeling unusually comfortable. My physicians tell me that I had become tired out without being aware of it and that this was behind my giving up my work in California and moving east. My own backward look confirms their opinion."

Enjoys New Tasks

"But strangely enough the experience landed me in a work that I would rather do than anything else in the world. I refer to having a hand in founding and training the future leadership of the Young Men's Christian Association. This chance has just come to me through the appointment of me to the position of assistant director of the county work department at the Y. M. C. A. college at Springfield, Mass. The college has an enrollment of over 400 men and was established in 1885. My work will have special reference to field training and will cover territory extending from New Hampshire to New Jersey."

"Since leaving Glendale in March 1921 we as a family, as a whole or in sections, have had many delightful experiences. We traveled over the broad acres in the Finger Lakes region of New York in the spring time when the trees were budding and fields putting on their garments of green. We put on our rain-coats and oldest hats and with umbrellas hid ourselves off to the woods on a Sunday afternoon and picked the wild flowers and renewed our acquaintance with the robin and other eastern feathered folk."

"We have had a real look at Plymouth rock and sat through the great pageant depicting 300 years of New England history. We strolled about in the graveyards of Boston, where known historical characters lie. The ride of Paul Revere and the battle of Concord mean more since we have been over the ground."

"Our journeys last summer took us to Canada, with its pleasant summer on the old farm and a visit to the magnificent national capital buildings at Ottawa."

"Returning home we camped on the shores of that noble river, the St. Lawrence; drove along its banks, and camped that night on the breast of Mount Royal, which gives its name to the old and historic city of Montreal."

"On Lake Champlain from island to island and along the shore of Lake Champlain, so intimately connected with our early period as a nation, and with Indian lore. It would be hard to beat a trip across Vermont in a machine in the summer time with its winding roads, well kept villages, green valleys, and mountains, and many streams."

"The journey through the White mountains of New Hampshire, though, caps the climax. Not so high and grand to one who has looked on Old Baldy and the Sierras, they have a beauty of their own, and well deserve their widespread fame."

"New Hampshire comes rightly by the name 'The Switzerland of America.' It is Vermont, only much more so. Its many streams, lakes and ponds, its greenness and ever-present look of a rich history bring the summer visitor to every nook and corner of the state. He comes early and stays late, for he likes it here."

"We will leave Concord with genuine regret. It is a city, a big country town, rather, with splendid whole-hearted people. Its civic center is equaled by few cities of its size in the country. You can stand in one spot and count fifteen public buildings in a space not more than four blocks long and two wide."

"But on July 1 we shift to Springfield and the substantial state of Massachusetts, just ten miles from where we spent the

PLACES CAPITOL ON HEAD OF PIN

Washington Engraver to Put President's Face On Another

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The famous pinhead with the Lord's prayer thereon must now bow down before two works of engraving made by a Washington man, who, within the last two years, has inscribed on two ordinary pinheads the United States Capitol and a profile of President Harding with the name "Warren G. Harding."

August C. Habicht is the creator of these two minute pieces of art, and, what is more, he has just completed the construction of a machine and die that will transfer the portrait of the President onto the heads of an unlimited number of pins.

Mr. Habicht is a former engraver at the bureau of engraving and printing. In March, 1921, while employed at the bureau, he began the work of cutting a picture of the capitol into the pinhead. He worked at nights at his home under a powerful light and a microscope, and used the regular engraving tools, but those of the most delicate type. The work "just about set me crazy," he said, and in March of last year, when the task was completed, Mr. Habicht resigned from the bureau.

The capitol is fully represented on the pin, as though an actual photograph of the structure were transferred to a large plate, such is the impression through a microscope. In addition Mr. Habicht has included some scenery and shrubbery in the picture.

second year of our wedded life, and the very city where, nineteen years ago, the first seed was dropped into my mind which determined my life work to be in the interest of country boys.

"So life has not treated us so roughly after all. And in the future, as heretofore, we will keep the cowboy's motto in mind: 'Life ain't in holding a good hand, but in playing a pore hand well.' Look in on us, good friends, any time, at 180 Massachusetts avenue, Springfield, Mass."
